REPUBLICANS IN IOWA ARE FOR CUMMINS

PRESENT GOVERNOR WAS RENOMINATED AT STATE CONVENTION YESTERDAY.

DES MOINES, Aug. 1.—The Republican state convention today renominated Governor A. B. Cummins for chief executive on the first ballot, completing the nominations for state offices with but few contests; adopted a platform favoring "reciprocity inaugurated by Blaine and advocated by McKinley and Roosevelt," and adjourned. The full state ticket follows:

Governor, Albert B. Cummins; lieutenant governor, Warren Garst; secretary of state, W. C. Hayward; auditor, B. F. Carroll; treasurer, W. W. Morrow; attorney general H. W. Byers; supreme judges, E. McLean, John C. Sherwin; superintendent of public instruction, John F. Riggs; clerk of the supreme court, John C. Crockett; court reporter, W. W. Cornwall; railroad commissioners, W. T. Eaton, David J. Palmer.

All fears of a split in the convention with the consequent certainty of two Republican tickets in the field disappeared when Governor Cummins' strength developed in the district caucuses held this morning, and the convention was as harmonious as any ever held by the Republicans of the state.

Governor Cummins, as he claimed all along, had a majority of the delegates, and the action of the state central committee in adding to the temporary organization some Perkins delegates did not interfere with his control of the situation. His friends controlled not only the committee on credentials, but secured the adoption of the platform they submitted to the committee on resolutions. The action of the state central committee in putting 88 of the contesting Perkins delegates on the temporary roll was not sustained by the committee on credentials.

After Governor Cummins was renominated a committee was appointed to escort him to the platform, where he spoke briefly.

George W. Clark was permanent chairman. The ballot for governor resulted: Albert B. Cummins, 933; George B. Perkins 603; S. W. Rathbun 104.

The committee on resolutions submitted the following platform which it was stated, they had unanimously agreed to:

We find abundant cause for rejoicing in conditions prevailing, the country as a whole unceasingly prosperous and our state experiencing the climax of protection and prosperity. We are rightly proud of the history of our party, which for so many years has determined the policies and directed the administration of our public affairs.

We commend the inspiring character, important achivements and undaunted leadership of Theodore Roosevelt. It is with exceeding pride that we contemplate the confidence reposed in him by the people of our country and the admiration which he commands from the whole world.

Iowa rejoices in the prominence and influence of its representatives in the cabinet and in congress. They have discharged the duties of public station with honor and high credit to themselves, the state and the nation and deserve the esteem and affection of the people whom they have so faithfully served.

We approve most heartily the work of the Iowa delegation in the recent session. It is most gratifying to know that every effort was made in behalf of legislation which will protect the health of our people and maintain equality of opportunity upon commercial highways.

The courageous leadership and practical administration of Governor Cummins merits our unqualified approval and we appreciate the honor conferred upon our party by him and other state officials who have given exceptional service to our people.

The Republican party has always stood for the enlarged participation of the individual voter in public affairs. To this end we pledge ourselves and our party in this state to the enactment of a wise and judicious primary election law which will provide for the nomination by direct vote of all candidates for office to be filled at the general election and an expression of party preference in the selection of United States senators.

We are unalterably opposed to the domination of corporate influences in public affairs. We favor the enactment of stringent statutes to purge the politics of our state and nation from the corrupting

FOR VIOLATION OF ARBITRATION LAW

LOUISVILLE, Aug. 1.—United States Commissioner Cassin today gave his decision in the preliminary hearing of the case of J. H. Scott, chief train dispatcher of the Louisville and Nashville Railroad company, holding Scott in $300 bond to answer at the October term of the United States district court for alleged violation of the Erdman arbitration law.

The case is considered by union labor men to be one of the most important of any brought to trial in recent years. The Erdman act, which applies to employes engaged in the moving of interstate commerce, provides that no employer, or his agent, shall require any agreement from an employe to abstain from joining a labor union; that no employe shall be threatened with loss of employment for joining or remaining a member of a union, and that no employe or applicant for employment shall be blacklisted or discriminated against for affiliating with a union.

Members of the Order of Railroad Telegraphers filed complaint and testified that Scott had violated all of the provisions of the act. Scott testified that certain acts complained of were done by direction of his superiors. The penalty for violation of the Erdman act is a fine of $100 to $1,000 for each offense.

MOTHER FOLLOWING THE COMMANDS OF HER SON

NEW YORK, Aug. 1.—Yielding to the persuasion of her son, Harry Thaw, Mrs. William Thaw today dispensed with the services of the firm of Black, Olcott, Gruber & Bonynge, whom she had retained to conduct the defense of the young man on the charge of murdering Stanford White. Following a family council held last night at the residence of her daughtre, Mrs. Carnegie, at Roslyn, L. I., and at which Mrs. Harry Thaw was present, Mrs. William Thaw this afternoon sent a letter to her counsel, saying:

"After fully considering the question I have decided that my son's position is the right one. Will you, therefore, kindly deliver to Messrs. Hartridge and Peabody, No. 149 Broadway, all documents, letters, notes, memorandums, data and all papers you have for me, and a full statement of your account."

MURDERER PAYS PENALTY

WINDSOR, N. S., Aug. 1.—George Stanley was hanged at the jail here at 8:10 o'clock this morning for the murder of Freeman Harvie, an aged farmer of Ellershouse, on February 21, last.

MR. HARTJE PAID HER ROOM RENT

PITTSBURG, Aug. 1.—Probably the most sensational incident and testimony in the Hartje divorce case in the five weeks it has been running were brought out today when Alma Ross, the "mysterious blonde" who kept a rooming house, swore that Augustus Hartje and Josephine Wright frequently met at the Ross woman's house; that the Wright woman brought him and introduced him and said that the house at which she had been living was too public and too close to the Hartje warehouse. The Ross woman said Hartje paid Josephine Wright's room rent thereafter.

Hartje, several days ago swore that he did not know Josephine Wright and never visited her. The Wright woman swore that she did not know Hartje.

Detectives Staubb and Anderson, who testified that they took the famous "love letters" from Tom Madine's trunk, were arrested today on informations charging them with entering a building with intent to commit felony and larceny. They were released on bonds of $2,000 each, furnished by Attorney Edward Hartje, a brother of Augustus Hartje.

HAGGOTT HAS CONGRESS BEE IN BONNET

DOES NOT WANT TO BE STATE CHAIRMAN OR CANDIDATE FOR GOVERNOR.

SAYS REPUBLICAN TICKET WILL SURELY WIN, BUT IT IS TOO EARLY TO NAME SUCCESSFUL ASPIRANTS.

W. A. Haggott of Idaho Springs, formerly lieutenant governor of Colorado, and a candidate for nomination in the Second congressional district, is in the city, calling on political friends.

When seen last night, he had little to say regarding the political situation in the state. "It is too early to prophesy who the candidates will be on the Republican ticket," he said. "Whether Mr. McDonald, will be a candidate for governor, or not, I am unable to say. I would not attempt to name his successor, should he fail to enter the race. There will probably be several candidates."

Regarding the report that he would enter the gubernatorial race, Mr. Haggott said "I have been asked by friends to consider the nomination, and also to be a candidate for the chairmanship of the state executive committee, but I have declined both. It was only after Congressman Herschel M. Hogg announced that he would not be a candidate for re-election, that I consented to enter the congressional race."

"The Republican state ticket will undoubtedly succeed. I don't believe there is any doubt of that, but as to naming candidates at this time—well, it is too early."

Mr. Haggott arrived from Denver last evening, in company with Senator Lewis G. Campbell of Cripple Creek, who was en route home after a trip to Kansas City. Senator Campbell left for Cripple Creek on the evening train. Mr. Haggott will leave for Pueblo this afternoon.

DENVER COMMISSIONERS ASK AN INVESTIGATION

DENVER, Aug. 1.—The board of county commissioners today sent a letter to the Chamber of Commerce and Real Estate exchange, asking those two bodies to appoint a committee to investigate the books of the commissioners. This action was taken as a reply to the charges of grafting made against the board by Judge Ben B. Lindsey.

BLOW FROM FIST IS FATAL TO A MARINE

BOSTON, Aug. 1.—Private Duer of the detachment of United States marines stationed at the Charlestown navy yard, was killed tonight by a blow alleged to have been struck by Acting Corporal Jenkins. Jenkins was arrested by naval officials charged with causing the death of Duer.

The affair occurred in the navy yard. Duer had been drinking and was placed under arrest by a patrol. While being escorted to the guard house Duer attempted to escape, and Acting Corporal Jenkins struck him.

CHARGE OF PEONAGE IS DENIED BY LESSER

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Aug. 1.—Emil Lesser, president of the German immigration society of Alabama, returned from Lockhart, Ala., tonight, where he has been for three days investigating the charges of peonage in the camp of the Jackson Lumber company. Mr. Lesser has prepared a report which will be submitted to Governor Jelks, in which he says that no trace of peonage exists in the camp.

TEA ON MOUNTAINTOP.

RIO JANEIRO, Aug. 1. Secretary Root was the guest of Dr. Muller, minister of public works, on an ascension of Mount Corcovado. There were several hundred guests in the party and tea was served on the mountain.

COMBINE MAY MEAN MONOPOLY

CONSOLIDATED CRIPPLE CREEK RAILWAY AND TRANSFER COMPANIES LIKELY TO CONTROL HAULING.

A deal which will give the allied roads entering the Cripple Creek district a practical monopoly not only on all the carrying business to and from the district, but within the district as well, is understood to be near consummation. According to reliable information from Cripple Creek, negotiations are being conducted whereby the Colorado Trading and Transfer company, an adjunct of the Short Line and the Cripple Creek Central roads, will absorb the Cripple Creek Coal and Transportation company. An invoice has just been taken of the stock and property of the latter company. It is understood that the consideration, if the deal is closed, will be between $60,000 and $70,000.

The plan will place the control of the entire coal business of the Cripple Creek district, as well as the handling of the ore and heavy machinery, in the hands of the Short Line and the Cripple Creek Central railroad lines, both of which companies are controlled by the Colorado & Southern.

The Cripple Creek Coal and Transfer company was organised by Mayor James B. Cunningham of Victor, Irving Howbert, E. W. Giddings and William Lennox of this city and A. A. Rollestone of Victor, as a competitor of the Colorado Trading and Transfer company, when the Short Line was first built into the district, four years ago. It has done a big business, and with the Colorado Trading and Transfer company, has practically had a monopoly on the business of the district.

MAN ADMITS HIS UNFAITHFULNESS

TO DEFEND HIS WIFE CHARGED WITH MURDER, HUTCHINSON BLACKENS HIS OWN CHARACTER.

BUENA VISTA, Colo., Aug. 1.—A sensation was sprung today in the trial of Mrs. Grace Hutchinson, charged with the murder of Mrs. Mary Bode at Salida last June. Just before adjournment, Earl Hutchinson, husband of the accused woman, took the stand, and in answer to a question, confessed that he had met Mrs. Bode in the barn. Carl F. Bode, husband of the dead woman, appeared for a moment paralyzed at this testimony and, jumping to his feet, rushed from the room, slamming the door after him. Almost immediately the court adjourned for the day. Bode's friends gathered around him outside the court and held him until the crowd, including Hutchinson and his brother, had passed out of sight.

After the attorneys had made their opening statements today several witnesses were examined at length. The most complete testimony was given by Mrs. Hutchinson, who said she bought the pistol to kill herself and that the first shot she fired at Mrs. Bode was an accident. After that she became frenzied and did not know what she was doing.

GUARDING ALL TRAINS.

MOSCOW, Aug. 1.—On account of anticipated attacks every mail train running between Moscow and St. Petersburg will hereafter be guarded by half a company of soldiers.

SPECIAL RATES FOR IRRIGATION CONGRESS

BOISE, Ida., Aug. 1.—A telegram was received today by Chairman M. B. Gwynn of the executive committee of the National Irrigation congress, from Minneapolis, where the Western Passenger association is in session, stating that that organization had granted a rate of one fare plus 50 cents, to the meeting of the congress in Boise, September 3 to 8.

"SLATE" SHOT TO PIECES BY ONE WOMAN

ONLY FEMALE DELEGATE IN IDAHO CONVENTION IS NAMED FOR OFFICE.

GOODING RENOMINATED, ROOSEVELT INDORSED—NO REFERENCE TO THE STEUNENBURG MURDER CASE.

POCATELLO, Idaho, Aug. 1.—A woman smashed the slate prepared by the Republican leaders in Idaho.

In a convention in which there was only one woman delegate, a stampede was effected this evening and Miss Belle Chamberlain of Boise City, was nominated for state superintendent of public instruction over E. A. Carpenter of Idaho Falls. The sympathy of the convention was with Miss Chamberlain from the first, and when Ada county cast its 27 votes for Carpenter there was a storm of hisses. Every delegation voting for the lady was cheered and before the vote could be announced the convention was carried by storm and Miss Chamberlain's nomination was made unanimous.

R. W. McBride of Salmon City, slated for state mining inspector, was not presented to the convention, and Robert M. Bell, present incumbent, was renominated. The ticket was named as follows:

Justice of the supreme court, George H. Stewart, Boise; member of congress, Burton Lee French, of Moscow, renominated; governor, Frank R. Gooding, of Shoshone, renominated; lieutenant governor, E. A. Burrill, Montpelier; secretary of state, Robert Landsdon, Welser; treasurer, C. A. Hastings, Lewiston; auditor, Robert S. Bragaw, of Kootenai county, renominated; attorney general John J. Gubsen, Pocatello; superintendent of public instruction, Miss S. Belle Chamberlain, Boise; inspector of mines, Robert M. Bell, Blackfoot, renominated; for United States senator, William E. Borah of Boise.

The resolutions adopted indorse the administration of President Roosevelt and pledge the Republican party of Idaho to support his continued effort to carry out the policy which he has inaugurated.

The resolutions make no direct reference to the assassination of former Governor Steunenberg or of the criminal charges growing out of that crime.

A law prohibiting the employment of underground laborers in mines more than eight hours a day and the enactment of an employers' liability law modeled after the federal statute on this subject, are recommended.

LOCOMOTIVE EXPLODES AND TWO ARE KILLED

GARDEN CITY, Kan., Aug. 1.—By the explosion of a locomotive on Santa Fe freight, No. 31, at Mansfield, six miles east of here, this morning, Engineer E. E. Holmes and an unknown boy were killed and Fireman E. W. Quinlan seriously injured. The latter will lose his sight.

It was Holmes' second trip and the boy was riding in the cab with him. Holmes was married and his widow lives at Raton, N. M.

BIGELOW'S CREDITORS GET SMALL DIVIDEND

MILWAUKEE, Aug. 1.—The final account of the trustee of the bankrupt estate of Frank G. Bigelow, the defaulting bank president who is now serving sentence in Fort Leavenworth prison, was filed today. The trustee says that there is sufficient money on hand to pay a final dividend of 1.22 per cent, making a total dividend of 11.44 per cent on approved claims, aggregating $2,242,955.

NAME CANDIDATES.

LINCOLN, Neb., Aug. 1.—The prohibition state convention, before its final adjournment, nominated candidates for congress from five of the six districts, no selection being made for the Fourth.

ANOTHER TUNNEL SCHEME REPORTED

EL PASO, MARY M'KINNEY AND ELKTON COMPANY SAID TO BE READY TO BEGIN WORK AT ONCE.

Work upon the proposed deep drainage tunnel for the Cripple Creek district will be started between now and August 15, according to information received from Cripple Creek last night. It is understood that the money for the driving of the tunnel has been subscribed principally by the El Paso, Mary McKinney and Elkton Consolidated companies, and that the necessary machinery has been ordered and will arrive in the Cripple Creek district within the next two weeks.

These three companies have been most seriously hampered in development work by the water situation, and have been most energetic in pushing the project for a deeper tunnel. While it is understood that other mining companies of the district, directly or indirectly affected by the proposed tunnel, are to contribute to the expense of driving it, the brunt of the expense will be borne by these three.

While the plans for the tunnel have not been given out definitely, and the companies interested have not stated whether the Gatch Park, or intermediate tunnel, or the Window Rock, or deep-level tunnel, has been finally selected, it is understood that it is the latter that has been favored, and that, with some modifications, it will be the one to be driven. This tunnel is 1,130 feet below the present El Paso tunnel, giving it a total depth of about 2,450 feet. It is about three miles and a half in length, and the estimated cost is $510,000. With some changes in the length and area drained, it is said that the cost has been considerably reduced below this fugure.

It is barely possible, in order to get the tunnel completed quickly, that work will be started in three, and perhaps five, different places.

S. S. Bernard, president of the El Paso company, last night, in discussing the Cripple Creek report, stated that as yet no action had been taken, and that the final decision as regards the selection of the tunnel and the actual beginning of work seemed as far distant as it did six months ago. He refused to verify the report. Mr. Bernard was the only officer of either the El Paso, Elkton or Mary McKinney companies with whom an interview could be obtained last night.

SPEND $15,000,000 FOR CARS.

MONTREAL, August 1.—The directors of the Grand Trunk Pacific railway have decided to spend $15,000,000 on rolling stock, to be paid for by the issue of 4 per cent debenture stock on the road.

DEFICIT SHRINKS FROM JULY, 1905

UNCLE SAM'S EXPENDITURES FOR THE MONTH, HOWEVER, EXCEEDED RECEIPTS BY $13,514,869.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 1.—The monthly comparative statement of the government receipts and expenditures, issued today, shows that for the month of July, 1906, the total receipts were $52,298,852, and the expenditures $65,813,721, leaving a deficit for the month of $13,514,869, as against a deficit on August 1, 1905, of $13,855,662.

One year ago however, the semi-annual settlement note of the Central Pacific Railroad company, amounting to $2,726,000, was paid on the last day of July, so that it was taken into the July account. The note of the company, amounting to $2,620,620, due August 1, 1906, was not paid until today, and therefore will be stated in the August account. The actual deficit this month, therefore, is $3,101,424 less than for July, 1905. The receipts from the several series of revenue are given as follows:

Customs, $26,154,677; increase, $4,511,000.

Internal revenue, $22,102,238; increase, $1,014,000.

Miscellaneous, $4,019,689; decrease, $2,575,000.

The expenditures for the month were $2,685,000 in excess of those for July, 1905, which is largely due to work on the Panama canal.

RUMOR SAYS MUTINY NOW IS QUELLED

REACTIONARY PAPER PUBLISHES NEWS OF M. HERZENSTEIN'S DEATH HOURS BEFORE IT OCCURRED.

HELSINGFORS, Aug. 2.—(12:50 a. m.)—The latest news from the fortress tends to confirm the report that the mutineers have surrendered. The mutineers undoubtedly had the upper hand until the battleships Slava and Czarevitch arrived on the scene and commenced to bombard them with such telling effect that the central magazine was blown up and the biggest guns in the hands of the revolutionists were rendered practically useless.

Commander Toget and 2,000 loyal infantrymen then surrounded the barracks. They were under continual fire from the revolutionists, to which they could not reply.

The men undoubtedly were led to surrender because of their lack of big guns, their need of provisions which they had failed to secure and the arrival of the warships.

The correspondent of the Associated Press spoke to an officer who had returned from Sveaborg about the conditions there.

"Yes," he said in reply to a question, "white flags have been hoisted, but this may be a ruse to get the ships closer into shore. I don't know anything further."

ST. PETERSBURG, Aug. 1.—M. Herzenstein, former member of the outlawed parliament, in which he was a prominent leader of the Constitutional Democrats, was assassinated at his country house near Terioki, Finland, by men in the pay of the Black Hundred organization.

M. Herzenstein was walking along the seashore with his wife and daughter, when several shots were fired at him from an unoccupied building. M. Herzenstein was hit twice and fell dead. His daughter was wounded in the hand. The murderers escaped.

A reactionary paper of Moscow published the news of the murder of M. Herzenstein yesterday morning more than 12 hours before the perpetration of the crime.

HELSINGFORS, Aug. 2.—12:40 a. m.—A rumor of the surrender of the entire mutinous force at Sveaborg was brought over to Helsingfors by the postmaster at Sveaborg. It is impossible to confirm this rumor here. The fire from the cruisers has seriously damaged the fortifications.

There has been no firing for the last two hours.

The mutineers have failed in their efforts to secure provisions.

HELSINGFORS, Aug. 2.—12:30 a. m.—Except in the vicinity of the fort, the town present practically a normal aspect. During the evening large crowds assembled on the quays listening to the cannonade and watching the dense columns of smoke rising from the islands. All traffic in the harbor has been prohibited. After nightfall the governor issued an order closing all public houses. Regular traffic has been resumed with St. Petersburg, the railroad bridge between Riihmaki and Ryttylae, which was blown up by members of the "Red Guard" having been repaired. Prior to the blowing up of this bridge members of the "Red Guard" seized the Fredericksburg station and stopped the St. Petersburg mail train.

The white flag has been hoisted on one of the islands, but it is premature to say whether the revolutionaries there have surrendered or not. In any event, however, the fire from the battleship Slava and another warship undoubtedly had its effect.

The Sveaborg mutiny first broke out Monday in a sapper battalion which had been disarmed in the fortress. The artillery joined in the revolt and together the mutineers took possession of the forts. The commander of the fortress appealed personally to the men, but his words were unheeded. The mutiny supposedly assumed an aggressive character.

GAMBLER SLAYS MAN BY MISTAKE

AUSTIN, Nev., Aug. 1.—Tuesday afternoon Patsy Dwyer, a gambler of Tonopah, and Jack O'Brien, a bartender from Manhattan, had a quarrel and when they parted there was an understanding that when next they met they would shoot.

At about 8 o'clock Dwyer went out looking for O'Brien. On turning a corner near the International hotel, he saw E. C. CRIPPLE CREEK, Aug. 1.—Guy Goldsworthy, 17 years old, emptied two barrels of a shotgun into the hips and lower limbs of Charles Steele, 36 years old, at Gillett, this afternoon, at 4 o'clock. Steele is in the hospital here and the physicians say he probably will recover, although the bullets, which were of small size, penetrated nearly every inch of the lower part of his anatomy.

The shooting followed a dispute over a bill in the general store at Gillett, kept by Young Goldsworthy's father. Young Goldsworthy says Steele pulled a revolver and was preparing to shoot his father when he fired that, at short range.

Young Goldsworthy is in the county jail.

MINE GAS KILLS GIRL AT SURFACE

AN EXPLOSION UNDER GROUND CAUSES ANOTHER IN HOME, BREAKS WATER MAINS, STARTS FIRE.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., Aug. 1. A terrific explosion occurred in the mine of the Warrior Run Coal company at Warrior Run, near here, today, and John Shumaker, a miner, was instantly killed.

Through crevices formed on the surface by the explosion, the gas escaped from the workings below into the houses situated over the mine, and coming into contact with a lighted lamp in the home of John Williams, caused another explosion which resulted in the death of his 16-year-old daughter.

The settling of the earth also affected the water mains of the village and as a [illegible] the home of [illegible] and an adjoining house [illegible]

S. S. BERNARD IS REINSTATED

LOCAL HORSEMAN, BARRED FROM TURF FOR LIFE, RECOVERS PRIVILEGES.

J. J. M., JR., NOW RACING ON MISSOURI GRAND CIRCUIT. FOUR BERNARD HORSES TO RACE HERE.

S. S. Bernard, the wealthy mine-owner and horseman of this city, has been reinstated by the American Trotting association after having been barred from the turf for life by the judges of the recent meet at Overland park in Denver. Mr. Bernard's reinstatement is in the form of a temporary reinstatement issued by President W. P. Igams of Terre Haute, Ind., and Secretary W. H. Knight of Chicago, this being the only form in which the reinstatement can be issued until confirmed by the board of appeals. This body will not meet until its annual meeting in Chicago in December, when it will be simply a matter of formality in making Mr. Bernard's reinstatement permanent.

Mr. Bernard received official notice of his reinstatement which accords him full privileges in the trotting world, this week. He has already sent with his driver, Ed Davis, J. J. HORSES ARRIVE

FIRST STRING OF RUNNERS REACH ROSWELL PARK IN OVERLAND.

Roswell track is again resuming the activity which precedes the annual race meet. The first string of runners has arrived and been stabled at the tracks in preparation for the opening of the meet on August 21. Two carloads of horses, about 30 in all, have arrived from Denver, where the ponies have been since the closing of the Overland meet. At least three carloads more are expected before the end of the week, so that within a short time there will be from 75 to 100 horses quartered at the park.

"GUILTY OR NOT GUILTY?"

EX-PHILIPPINE SOLDIER DID NOT KNOW WHETHER HE HAD FORGED OR NOT.

MORPHINE SOAKED, HE THANKS JUDGE CUNNINGHAM FOR SENDING HIM TO STATE REFORMATORY.

Pleading guilty to a charge of forgery, but adding that he did not know whether or not he was guilty, George H Corson, 30 years old, a former chief cook at the Antlers hotel, told a remarkably pathetic story to Judge Lou s W Cunningham, in the district court yesterday After his trial, Judge Cunningham sentenced Corson to an indefinite term at the state reformatory at Buena Vista

Corson blames his criminal acts to the fact that he served Uncle Sam as a soldier in the Philippines during the Spanish-American war When he left Colorado Springs for the east with a regiment of Colorado volunteers, he says he was in perfect health. After reaching Manila he was afflicted with trouble of the stomach, and a native Philippine physician gave him bismuth and opium He became addicted to the opium habit purchased an opium pipe, and brought it back to Colorado Springs at the close of the war

He continued to smoke opium for two years after his return, and then became disgusted with the habit and threw away his pipe But the drug had obtained too strong a hold on his system. He craved a narcotic day and night He could not sleep for want of the drug He had thrown away his pipe, and was forced to take morphine in its stead

For the last two years, according to the young man s story, he has almost lived on morphine His craving for the drug grew, and he was under its influence a greater part of the time He says that it was while under the drug's influence that he forged the check—if he did forge it—in order to obtain money to purchase more morphine

"I would give anything in the world to get rid of the habit, and I ask your honor to send me some place where the habit which is ruining my life may be broken," Corson pleaded to Judge Cunningham, with tears in his eyes.

When sentence was pronounced, Corson thanked the judge for sending him to the reformatory rather than to the penitentiary and he departed for Buena Vista with Undersheriff George Dayton in a happy frame of mind

The crime for which Corson pleaded guilty was forging a check for $2.50 on the First National bank of this city, and passing the check on B. G. Robbins the clothier The young man signed the name of his mother, Mrs. Jessie D. Corson, to the check

Corson told Judge Cunningham that many of the soldiers who first entered Manila contracted the opium habit as a result of the prescriptions given by the native Philippine doctors

REPUBLICANS IN IOWA ARE FOR CUMMINS

influences of corporate power and we pledge ourselves to the enactment of such laws as will render it unprofitable and unpopular for corporations to engage in politics or in any way contribute to political campaigns

The abolishment of the free pass on railways is a most important step in curbing the influence of corporations in political affairs and we commend the Republican legislature which has enacted a law to this end

We are uncompromisingly in favor of the American system of protection Duties on foreign imports should not be levied for revenue only but should be so adjusted as to promote our domestic interests enlarge our foreign markets secure remunerative prices for the products of our factories and farms and maintain a superior scale of wages and standard of living for American labor Wise and unselfish tariff laws maintained in the interest of the general welfare equally opposed to foreign control and domestic monopoly, are essential to our commercial and industrial prosperity We believe that all inequalities in the tariff schedules which inevitably arise from changing industrial and commercial conditions should be adjusted from time to time; and condemn without reserve all assaults upon the protective system We favor such reasonable and timely changes as will keep the tariff in harmony with our industrial and commercial progress

We favor the reciprocity inaugurated by Blaine advocated by McKinley and Roosevelt, as recognized in Republican platforms and legislation

The Republican party of Iowa appeals with confidence to the people of this state for approval of the wisdom of its policies and worth of its leaders It is and always has been the party of patriotic statesmanship

GOLD OUTPUT FOR JULY SHOWS GAINS

CRIPPLE CREEK MINES PRODUCE A MILLION AND A HALF DOLLARS IN YELLOW METAL

CRIPPLE CREEK, July 31.—The month closes today with the output of gold from the Cripple Creek district amounting to $1,636,500. The tonnage is 2,060 tons less than that of June, but the valuations are much higher and the returns on the product for July exceed those of the previous month by $80,100.

The only mill not in operation during July is the Economic in Arequa gulch. There was an increase in the tonnage at the Ironclad and Anaconda plants, while the Santa Rita showed a great falling off in only handling 100 tons of $7 ore.

The figures follow:

PLANT.	Tons.	Average Value.	Total.
Smelters	9,992	75	$ 749,400
U. S. R. and R.	22,500	27	607,500

LEADVILLE FIELD HAS MANGANESE

CAMP BIRD LESSEES OPEN FIRST BODY OF THIS KIND OF ORE EVER DISCOVERED IN THE DISTRICT.

LEADVILLE, July 31.—At the Sugar Loaf district work is in full swing and a number of properties have resumed work. Among them is the Dinero, which is being worked by two sets of lessees and the owner taking out good silver ore and some first class zinc sulphides. The property is shipping steadily.

At a depth of twenty-five feet in a new shaft on the Linna, Sherill & Caton have opened a five-foot vein of ore that runs sixty-five ounces silver and thirty-four hundredths gold per ton. At the Bartlett tunnel the lessees are working on a good body of ore recently opened.

For the first time in the history of the district a body of manganese iron has been opened in the Camp Bird property by Caton, Murphy & Barnes. The ore was found in the shaft at a depth of 125 feet, but the flow of water was so heavy when the ore was caught that the lessees were drowned out. To overcome this a tunnel will be driven a distance of 125 feet from the bottom of the hill to cut the shaft and drain it.

KEMP-CALHOUN HAS ROCK RUNNING $188

CENTRAL CITY, Colo., July 31.—Johns and company, of Nevadaville, who are leasing in the 250-foot west level of the Kemp-Calhoun property, in Leavenworth gulch, have received returns of nine ounces gold, twenty-seven ounces silver and over four per cent in copper, or a net value of $188 per ton for a shipment to the sampling works at Black Hawk. Chicago people are interested in the property, and it is being worked entirely under the leasing system. The product is almost entirely of the smelting kind, and while the mineral streak is small at times, it is of extra good grade, carrying splendid values in gold, silver and copper.

GREAT WILCOX TUNNEL PIERCES ARMY OF VEINS

GEORGETOWN, Colo., July 31.—The great Wilcox tunnel, now in approximately 4,600 feet, has intersected an army of veins, all of which will eventually add largely to the world's money market.

Principal among the lodes now being crossed are the Paymaster, Commonwealth, Independence and 1904. Large bodies of ore are exposed and the workings are in condition at the present time for a production exceeding 200 tons per day.

A three-compartment raise has been put upon the Commonwealth lode for a distance of over 200 feet, and a body of good smelting material has been followed which measures from eighteen inches to two feet in thickness. The ore contains average values of about $75 to the ton in gold, silver, lead and copper.

WEST WHITING MINE PRODUCING $90 ORE

CENTRAL CITY, Colo., July 31.—[illegible] and company received returns of better than three ounces gold per cord for their shipments of milling ore from their lease on the West Whiting mine, on Gunnell hill, and they shipped two cars of tailings to the smelters which are expected to run between $15 and $18 per ton. They also shipped two cars of smelting ore to Argo, and their ore generally brings them about three ounces of gold per ton. They have recently erected a new shaft building and installed a plant, and are in good shape for carrying on active operations and making money for the pool. They are leasing from the Gunnell Gold Mining company.

PHER[illegible] [illegible] SHIPPING.

CRIPPLE CREEK, July 31.—Pher[illegible] brothers, who are operating a lease in the old shaft of the Gold Dollar company, are shipping a car of [illegible] ore today. The ore is obtained in the first level from a new ore body of good size.

GETTING OUT GOOD ORE IN EAGLE LODE

PITKIN, Colo., July 31.—Lee Reynolds of Ohio City has an 18 months' bond and lease on the Eagle lode in Dutch gulch. He has a tunnel in 200 feet and ran a drift for 40 feet, when a body of ore 18 inches to two feet wide was struck. He has raised on this for 25 feet. The ore runs $21 in gold and silver and shows considerable zinc and lead, no assays having been made on the two latter metals.

He will have a test made on the mineral at the Jersey Blue mill. The tunnel will be driven 80 feet farther to cut a large dyke. The property is owned by Brothers & Chrystal.

TO RUN MILL ON COPPER MOUNTAIN

HUNDRED-FOOT VEIN OF LOW-GRADE ORE IS BEING DEVELOPED AND CAN BE HANDLED PROFITABLY.

CRIPPLE CREEK, July 31.—The Phyolite-Beacon Mines company, operating the Fluorine claim on Copper mountain, has opened up a vein 100 feet wide showing values of $2.40 to $5.60 in gold to the ton, contained in a yellow mud-phonolite [illegible] tion.

Superintendent Miller will leave this week for the east and upon his return will start up the Copper mountain cyanide mill, which has a capacity of 70 tons a day. He believes that this ore can be handled at a handsome profit. A tunnel has been driven for 75 feet.

Frye, Becker and Travell, who have a lease on the north end of the Granite on Battle mountain, have completed sinking the shaft to 125 feet and today let a contract to James Wilson for 100 feet of crosscutting. They expect to find one of the rich Granite veins.

M. B. Burke is receiving returns of $50 to $80 per ton on three to four cars of ore which are being shipped from the Henry Adney each week.

GREATEST RICHES ARE IN ARAPAHOE

ORE BODY SHOWS 20 OUNCES OF GOLD AND 80 OUNCES SILVER, WITH HIGH GRADE STREAK.

GEORGETOWN, Colo., July 31.—The Arapahoe group of claims, being operated by Messrs. J. J. White, Thomas Cunningham, Oscar Hoffman and Charles Gileen, original locators and owners, is producing some of the richest ore ever found in East Argentine. At least this can be said concerning the gold values. In the upper workings there is a body of ore showing which measures from two to four feet in thickness, which contains average values of 20 ounces gold and 80 ounces silver to the ton. Alongside of this body there is to be found from one to four inches of ore which carries values of 500 ounces gold and 4,000 ounces silver to the ton.

Only a short time ago J. J. White offered his partners a guarantee of $10,000, providing they would lease their interest until November 1. This offer was refused and it is now predicted that the Arapahoe will break all prospective and predicted records during this year from a production standpoint.

SPRINGS MEN HAVE A FIND IN CUMBERLAND

IDAHO SPRINGS, Colo., July 31—The Cumberland in the gulch of the same name is being worked by A. V. Dickson and Colorado Springs associates through a shaft 100 feet deep from which first grade of $120 a ton and mill dirt of $30 has been produced in considerable quantity. They are now getting up a stamp mill.

Walter S. Hobbs has recently opened rich ore in the Centennial, one of the oldest workings in the district. He gets assays up to $400.

The '94 company has a fine ore showing and has made an effort at operating a mill at a profit. It is owned by C. L. West of Omaha and George Possell of Denver. The company has a group of claims developed by tunnel and the properties on Seemann hill are well equipped with surface buildings.

EVERY POINT YIELDED BY THE MINE OWNERS

TONOPAH, Nev., July 31.—Both mine owners and the leaders of the Western Federation of Miners in Nevada regard as significant the ratification of the time and wage scale by the members of the union in the Tonopah district yesterday.

The mine owners yielded every point, granting an eight-hour day for every workman and a general day wage scale of $4 and $4.50 with $5 and $5.50 for the more expert classes of labor. They made their stand upon three-year agreement, and this was accepted by a vote of 241 to 109. Eight hundred miners did not visit the polls, indicating their satisfaction with the surrender of the operators and their desire to see tranquillity in the camps for three years.

GOLD PRINCE MILL NEARING COMPLETION

SILVERTON, Colo., July 31.—Good progress is being made in the construction of the great all-steel Gold Prince mill at Animas Forks, which, when completed, will be the most modern and complete mill in Colorado.

Its capacity will be 500 tons a day and its cost $500,000. Since railroad traffic was resumed to Animas Forks ninety-three carloads of structural steel and machinery have been shipped there and the material is almost all on the ground.

Manager W. Z. Kinney expects to be able to start up the mill by the middle of September. A large force is employed at the mine, which will be ready to supply the mill to its full capacity indefinitely.

BLUE BIRD MINE CLOSED.

CRIPPLE CREEK, July 31.—The Blue Bird mine on Bull hill has been closed down for the past week, the Messrs. Johnson of Colorado Springs, who own the property, being in Nevada on an extensive tour of exploration. It is understood that work will be resumed at the Blue Bird on their return, which may be this week.

CLOSING IN WALL STREET IS FIRM

PRICES [illegible] UPWARD TENDENCY, BUT REPRESSIVE INFLUENCE IS FELT [illegible] U. S. STEEL IS FEATURE.

NEW YORK, July 31.—Prices showed a disposition to move upward today. There was manifest some repressive influence on the movement. While the rise was thus checked there was no urgent pressure and the level was little disturbed, in spite of the decided decrease in the demand for stocks which is made clear by the shrinkage in the total dealings for the day.

Interest became torpid and the price movements exceedingly sluggish. This was particularly true of the U. S. Steel stocks, which were held in reserve apparently for leadership of the later movement. It is doubtful whether the quarterly statement of the net earnings of the company contained any notable surprises for those who have been dealing actively in the stocks. The statement did not appear in time to enable information to be used at first hand in the market operations of the day, but as the time for the assembling of the directors approached, large transactions in U. S. Steel common appeared on the tape and its price was carried up to 40, which was the objective foretold by the speculative sponsors for the market movement.

The weather bureau's weekly crop bulletin was noncommittal as usual, but contained nothing to shake the present strong conviction of the excellent progress of the crops.

The money market was not affected by the monthly settlements which are not important for August, but foreign exchange moved up another step and away from the gold import level. The inflammatory condition reported from Russia was without effect here, or, so far as perceptible, abroad, where some confidence seemed to be restored over the payments to be made tomorrow on subscriptions to the last Russian loan.

The late movement in U. S. Steel carried prices to the high level of the first hour and held them there to a firm closing.

Bonds were irregular. Total sales, par value, $1,709,000. United States bonds unchanged on call.

SEVENTY DOLLAR ORE IN TRACHYTE MINE

CRIPPLE CREEK, July 31.—The Trachyte Leasing company, operating on the Trachyte of the United Gold Mines company on Bull hill, shipped a car of ore to the Eyler smelter at Pueblo yesterday, the ore being obtained at a depth of 300 feet in the mine. Two machines are at work breaking ore in a body two feet wide, containing an exceedingly rich streak eight inches in width. The screenings and high grade coarse rock from this lease give returns of three and one-half ounces to the ton in gold, making the lease one of the best in that portion of the camp at present.

CUT BIG ORE BODY IN WHISPER SHAFT

CRIPPLE CREEK, July 31—George Nourse and associates, operating at a depth of 100 feet in the Whisper shaft of the Gold Sovereign company on Bull hill, have cut an extremely large body of ore which assays from $40 to $80 to the ton in gold. While the ore may prove to be a pocket, it looks good for several cars of ore of a good grade. A shipment, the first to go out from the strike will be made this week. There is ore in sight in the Whisper from surface to the 400-foot or bottom level and regular shipments are being made by another set of lessees operating in the 400.

SUNNYSIDE PLACER SOLD.

CRIPPLE CREEK, July 31.—Ed Brandon and Edith Brandon of Fremont county have sold the Sunnyside placer claim to Paul Esteb of this county for $1,500. The placer contains sixty acres and the deed conveying it was executed July 7. Esteb has since put the claim in trust to secure a loan of $600 from Brandon. The Wilson Creek Junction placer was conveyed by Brandon to Esteb on the same date.

LIBERAL SELLING PUT WHEAT DOWN

MARKET RECEIVES PRINCIPAL SUPPORT FROM SHORTS. CORN AND OATS CLOSED WEAK.

CHICAGO, July 31.—Weakness in the wheat market developed toward the end of the first hour. Prior to that, feeling in the pit was steady, there being a good demand by shorts who were influenced by the comparatively firm tone of the wheat market at Liverpool. Cash houses were again free sellers throughout the entire day. In addition to these sales there was liberal selling by local longs who had been holding onto their lines in the hope of a rally following the closing out of July deals. Country acceptances, while not so large as during the past few days, were still of liberal proportions and primary receipts continued on a large scale. Bearish factors were reinforced by advices from the spring wheat country which told of the generally excellent condition of the new crop. The market received its principal support from shorts. The tone at the close was weak. September opened a shade lower to a shade higher at 74 5-8 to 3-4, sold up to 74 7-8 and then declined to 73 7-8, closing at 74 1-8@1-4.

In the corn pit there was persistent selling by cash houses and liberal sales by influential longs. As a result the tone of the market was weak practically all day, the exception being at the immediate opening, when buying by shorts caused moderate firmness. One of the chief sources of weakness was wet weather in Nebraska. The market closed weak. September opened unchanged to 1-8 higher at 50 7-8 to 51, sold up to 51 1-4 and then declined to 49 3-4, closing at 49 3-4.

A decline of 2 3-4 a bushel in the price of oats for July delivery was the feature of trading in the oats pit. The weakness of July had a depressing effect on all other deliveries. September opened 1-8 to 1-8@1-4 lower at 32@1-8 to 32 1-8, sold off to 31 and closed at 31@1-8.

The decline in the price of coarse grains had a weakening effect upon the provisions market. Sentiment was also affected by a 5-cent decline in the price of live hogs. The volume of trading was small. At the close September pork was off 20 at $16.75. Lard was unchanged at $8.72 1-2. Ribs were down 7 1-2 at $8.97 1-2.

COLORADO CITY

Fred Borst, proprietor of the City Meat market, one of the Colorado City men against whom Montgomery Simms has brought suit for the sum of $100,000, charging conspiracy against him, has instructed his attorney, John R. Watt, to sue Simms for $10,000, unless his, Borst's name, is withdrawn from the complaint immediately. Mr. Borst said yesterday that he had told Warren Simms to tell his father that he intended to sue him unless his name was dropped.

"Simms has been trying to get even with me," said Mr. Borst, yesterday, "ever since the time when he came in here to get some meat for his cat, and I put him out because he put the cat down on a large piece of meat without waiting for me to get some scraps." Then after I had put him out, he offered me $25 to step out of the door and let him shoot at me. I mean business."

MANITOU NEWS

Yesterday morning all the guests of the Navajo assembled in the parlors and halls, and Mrs. Pollen, the popular hostess of the hotel, was asked to come in for a moment. Before she had time to realize the significance of the summons, Mr. S. S. Bass, a St. Louis attorney, and a guest of the house, handed her a hand painted plate, and in a short speech explained that the gift was but a mild form of appreciation and affection from the guests.

WAS NOT "FEMALE"

[illegible] R. Lounsbury in Harper's for August.

The fortunes of words, indeed, are subject to as many vicissitudes as the fortunes of individuals. But there is perhaps no one term which just now deserves more commiseration for the hard fate which has befallen it than the substantive female used as a synonym for "woman." It is turned out-of-doors by every corrector of the press. It is contemptuously spoken of as a vulgarism; modern ignorance has sometimes styled it a modern vulgarism.

Both as a substantive and as an adjective female goes back to the fourteenth century; but though then occasionally employed as a synonym for "woman," such usage can hardly be called common. Still it is found. The Wycliffite translation of the Bible, for illustration, reads in the twenty-fourth chapter of Matthew that two women shall be grinding at a quern, the one to be taken, the other left. But in the polemic treatise Wycliffe wrote, expounding this same chapter, the two "women" of the gospel appear as two "femeles." The word turns up occasionally from that time during the three centuries that follow.

It is clear that the elder writers, born and brought up amid the linguistic traditions of the earlier half of the nineteenth century, were not in the slightest degree under the influences now prevalent; and that the disrepute into which the word has fallen is mainly the work of the last 30 years. It is hard to tell under what circumstances the feeling of dislike to it arose, or what were the main determining agencies that brought about the state of feeling we recognize as existing today. If the remark will not seem invidious, I am inclined to attribute the disfavor in which it is now held to the ill-will entertained and expressed towards it by the members of the sex it denotes. It may be said that they ought to have a determining voice in choosing the appellations by which they are designated.

BACHELDER WORRIED BY COURT SUMMONS

While in the act of leaving the city on an extended trip, Monday, W. J. Bachelder, former president of the Anthony Motor and Manufacturing company, was served with a notice to appear in court for trial within twenty days.

Mr Bachelder had arranged to make an extended trip through Europe in an automobile, and until he learned through his attorney that his plans need not be altered, he was greatly disturbed by the interruption.

H. C. Chapman was responsible for the summons, he desiring to recover $1,500 for alleged misrepresentation in the sale of an automobile.

COURT NOTES

A suit was filed in the district court yesterday by the Bull Frog Nugget Mining company against Joseph F. Colligan, for nonpayment of two notes one of $2,500 and the other for $5,000 On failing to locate the defendant, 544,000 shares of the company's stock, made out in Colligan's name, was levied on by Undersheriff Dayton, he being armed with a writ of attachment.

In the county court yesterday a suit was filed by George Sachs against W. H. Jones, to recover $75 due for professional services.

REPUBLICANS IN IOWA ARE FOR CUMMINS

DES MOINES, Aug. 1.—The Republican state convention today renominated Governor A. B. Cummins for chief executive on the first ballot, completing the nominations for state offices with but few contests; adopted a platform favoring "reciprocity inaugurated by Blaine and advocated by McKinley and Roosevelt," and adjourned. The full state ticket follows:

Governor, Albert B. Cummins; lieutenant governor, Warren Garst; secretary of state, W. C. Hayward; auditor, B. F. Carroll; treasurer, W. W. Morrow; attorney general H. W. Byers; supreme judges, E. McLean, John C. Sherwin; superintendent of public instruction, John F. Riggs; clerk of the supreme court, John C. Crockett; court reporter, W. W. Cornwall; railroad commissioners, W. T. Eaton, David J. Palmer.

All fears of a split in the convention with the consequent certainty of two Republican tickets in the field disappeared when Governor Cummins' strength developed in the district caucuses held this morning, and the convention was as harmonious as any ever held by the Republicans of the state.

Governor Cummins, as he claimed all along, had a majority of the delegates, and the action of the state central committee in adding to the temporary organization some Perkins delegates did not interfere with his control of the situation. His friends controlled not only the committee on credentials, but secured the adoption of the platform they submitted to the committee on resolutions. The action of the state central committee in putting 88 of the contesting Perkins delegates on the temporary roll was not sustained by the committee on credentials.

After Governor Cummins was renominated a committee was appointed to escort him to the platform, where he spoke briefly.

George W. Clark was permanent chairman. The ballot for governor resulted: Albert B. Cummins, 933; George B. Perkins 603; S. W. Rathbun 104.

The committee on resolutions submitted the following platform which it was stated, they had unanimously agreed to:

We find abundant cause for rejoicing in conditions prevailing, the country as a whole unceasingly prosperous and our state experiencing the climax of protection and prosperity. We are rightly proud of the history of our party, which for so many years has determined the policies and directed the administration of our public affairs.

We commend the inspiring character, important achivements and undaunted leadership of Theodore Roosevelt. It is with exceeding pride that we contemplate the confidence reposed in him by the people of our country and the admiration which he commands from the whole world.

Iowa rejoices in the prominence and influence of its representatives in the cabinet and in congress. They have discharged the duties of public station with honor and high credit to themselves, the state and the nation and deserve the esteem and affection of the people whom they have so faithfully served.

We approve most heartily the work of the Iowa delegation in the recent session.

It is most gratifying to know that every effort was made in behalf of legislation which will protect the health of our people and maintain equality of opportunity upon commercial highways.

The courageous leadership and practical administration of Governor Cummins merits our unqualified approval and we appreciate the honor conferred upon our party by him and other state officials who have given exceptional service to our people.

The Republican party has always stood for the enlarged participation of the individual voter in public affairs. To this end we pledge ourselves and our party in this state to the enactment of a wise and judicious primary election law which will provide for the nomination by direct vote of all candidates for office to be filled at the general election and an expression of party preference in the selection of United States senators.

We are unalterably opposed to the domination of corporate influences in public affairs. We favor the enactment of stringent statutes to purge the politics of our state and nation from the corrupting

AUSTIN, Nev., Aug. 1.—Tuesday afternoon Patsy Dwyer, a gambler of Tonopah, and Jack O'Brien, a bartender from Manhattan, had a quarrel and when they parted there was an understanding that when next they met they would shoot.

At about 8 o'clock Dwyer went out looking for O'Brien. On turning a corner near the International hotel, he saw E. C. Williams, conductor on the T. & G. railroad, and County Recorder W. Dyer standing together and in the moonlight he mistook Williams for [illegible] and Dyer for Louis Woolcock, [illegible] partner.

Dwyer fired three shots, one bullet [illegible] William's brain and killing [illegible] instantly. One bullet struck Dyer [illegible] the left leg.

FOR VIOLATION OF ARBITRATION LAW

LOUISVILLE, Aug. 1.—United States Commissioner Cassin today gave his decision in the preliminary hearing of the case of J. H. Scott, chief train dispatcher of the Louisville and Nashville Railroad company, holding Scott in $700 bond to answer at the October term of the United States district court for alleged violation of the Erdman arbitration law.

The case is considered by union labor men to be one of the most important of any brought to trial in recent years. The Erdman act, which applies to employes engaged in the moving of interstate commerce, provides that no employer, or his agent, shall require any agreement from an employe to abstain from joining a labor union; that no employe shall be threatened with loss of employment for joining or remaining a member of a union, and that no employe or applicant for employment shall be blacklisted or discriminated against for affiliating with a union.

Members of the Order of Railroad Telegraphers filed complaint and testified that Scott had violated all of the provisions of the act. Scott testified that certain acts complained of were done by direction of his superiors. The penalty for violation of the Erdman act is a fine of $100 to $1,000 for each offense.

MOTHER FOLLOWING THE COMMANDS OF HER SON

NEW YORK, Aug. 1.—Yielding to the persuasion of her son, Harry Thaw, Mrs. William Thaw today dispensed with the services of the firm of Black, Olcott, Gruber & Bonynge, whom she had retained to conduct the defense of the young man on the charge of murdering Stanford White. Following a family council held last night at the residence of her daughtre, Mrs. Carnegie, at Roslyn, L. I., and at which Mrs. Harry Thaw was present, Mrs. William Thaw this afternoon sent a letter to her counsel, saying:

"After fully considering the question I have decided that my son's position is the right one. Will you, therefore, kindly deliver to Messrs. Hartridge and Peabody, No. 149 Broadway, all documents, letters, notes, memorandums, data and all papers you have for me, and a full statement of your account."

MURDERER PAYS PENALTY

WINDSOR, N. S., Aug. 1.—George Stanley was hanged at the jail here at 8:10 o'clock this morning for the murder of Freeman Harvie, an aged farmer of Rhesdouse, on February 21, last.

MR. HARTJE PAID HER ROOM RENT

PITTSBURG, Aug. 1.—Probably the most sensational incident and testimony in the Hartje divorce case in the five weeks it has been running were brought out today when Alma Ross, the "mysterious blonde" who kept a rooming house, swore that Augustus Hartje and Josephine Wright frequently met at the Ross woman's house; that the Wright woman brought him and introduced him and said that the house at which she had been living was too public and too close to the Hartje warehouse. The Ross woman said Hartje paid Josephine Wright's room rent thereafter.

Hartje, several days ago swore that he did not know Josephine Wright and never visited her. The Wright woman swore that she did not know Hartje.

Detectives Staubb and Anderson, who testified that they took the famous "love letters" from Tom Madine's trunk, were arrested today on informations charging them with entering a building with intent to commit felony and larceny. They were released on bonds of $2,000 each, furnished by Attorney Edward Hartje, a brother of Augustus Hartje.

PEPPERS A MAN WITH BIRDSHOT

[illegible]

CRIPPLE CREEK, Aug. 1.—Guy Goldsworthy, 17 years old, emptied two barrels of a shotgun into the hips and lower limbs of Charles Steele, 34 years old, at Gillett, this afternoon, at 4 o'clock. Steele is in the hospital here and the physicians say he probably will recover, although the bullets, which were of small size, penetrated nearly every inch of the lower part of his anatomy.

The shooting followed a dispute over a bill in the general store at Gillett, kept by Young Goldsworthy's father. Young Goldsworthy says Steele pulled a revolver and was preparing to shoot his father when he fired [illegible], at short range.

Young Goldsworthy is in the county jail.

HAGGOTT HAS CONGRESS BEE IN BONNET

DOES NOT WANT TO BE STATE CHAIRMAN OR CANDIDATE FOR GOVERNOR.

SAYS REPUBLICAN TICKET WILL SURELY WIN, BUT IT IS TOO EARLY TO NAME SUCCESSFUL ASPIRANTS.

W. A. Haggott of Idaho Springs, formerly lieutenant governor of Colorado, and a candidate for nomination in the Second congressional district, is in the city, calling on political friends.

When seen last night, he had little to say regarding the political situation in the state. "It is too early to prophesy who the candidates will be on the Republican ticket," he said. "Whether Mr. McDonald, will be a candidate for governor, or not, I am unable to say. I would not attempt to name his successor, should he fail to enter the race. There will probably be several candidates."

Regarding the report that he would enter the gubernatorial race, Mr. Haggott said "I have been asked by friends to consider the nomination, and also to be a candidate for the chairmanship of the state executive committee, but I have declined both. It was only after Congressman Herschel M. Hogg announced that he would not be a candidate for re-election, that I consented to enter the congressional race."

"The Republican state ticket will undoubtedly succeed. I don't believe there is any doubt of that, but as to naming candidates at this time—well, it is too early."

Mr. Haggott arrived from Denver last evening, in company with Senator Lewis G. Campbell of Cripple Creek, who was en route home after a trip to Kansas City. Senator Campbell left for Cripple Creek on the evening train. Mr. Haggott will leave for Pueblo this afternoon.

DENVER COMMISSIONERS ASK AN INVESTIGATION

DENVER, Aug. 1.—The board of county commissioners today sent a letter to the Chamber of Commerce and Real Estate exchange, asking those two bodies to appoint a committee to investigate the books of the commissioners. This action was taken as a reply to the charges of grafting made against the board by Judge Ben B. Lindsey.

BLOW FROM FIST IS FATAL TO A MARINE

BOSTON, Aug. 1.—Private Duer of the detachment of United States marines stationed at the Charlestown navy yard, was killed tonight by a blow alleged to have been struck by Acting Corporal Jenkins. Jenkins was arrested by naval officials charged with causing the death of Duer.

The affair occurred in the navy yard. Duer had been drinking and was placed under arrest by a patrol. While being escorted to the guard house Duer attempted to escape, and Acting Corporal Jenkins struck him.

CHARGE OF PEONAGE IS DENIED BY LESSER

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Aug. 1.—Emil Lesser, president of the German immigration society of Alabama, returned from Lockhart, Ala., tonight, where he has been for three days investigating the charges of peonage in the camp of the Jackson Lumber company. Mr. Lesser has prepared a report which will be submitted to Governor Jelks, in which he says that no trace of peonage exists in the camp.

COMBINE MAY MEAN MONOPOLY

CONSOLIDATED CRIPPLE CREEK RAILWAY AND TRANSFER COMPANIES LIKELY TO CONTROL HAULING.

A deal which will give the allied roads entering the Cripple Creek district a practical monopoly not only on all the carrying business to and from the district, but within the district as well, is understood to be near consummation. According to reliable information from Cripple Creek, negotiations are being conducted whereby the Colorado Trading and Transfer company, an adjunct of the Short Line and the Cripple Creek Central roads, will absorb the Cripple Creek Coal and Transportation company. An invoice has just been taken of the stock and property of the latter company. It is understood that the consideration, if the deal is closed, will be between $60,000 and $70,000.

The plan will place the control of the entire coal business of the Cripple Creek district, as well as the handling of the ore and heavy machinery, in the hands of the Short Line and the Cripple Creek Central railroad lines, both of which companies are controlled by the Colorado & Southern.

The Cripple Creek Coal and Transfer company was organized by Mayor James B. Cunningham of Victor, Irving Howbert, E. W. Giddings and William Lennox of this city and A. A. Rollestone of Victor, as a competitor of the Colorado Trading and Transfer company, when the Short Line was first built into the district, four years ago. It has done a big business, and with the Colorado Trading and Transfer company, has practically had a monopoly on the business of the district.

MAN ADMITS HIS UNFAITHFULNESS

TO DEFEND HIS WIFE CHARGED WITH MURDER, HUTCHINSON BLACKENS HIS OWN CHARACTER.

BUENA VISTA, Colo., Aug. 1.—A sensation was sprung today in the trial of Mrs. Grace Hutchinson, charged with the murder of Mrs. Mary Bode at Salida last June. Just before adjournment, Earl Hutchinson, husband of the accused woman, took the stand, and in answer to a question, confessed that he had met Mrs. Bode in the barn. Carl F. Bode, husband of the dead woman, appeared for a moment paralyzed at this testimony and, jumping to his feet, rushed from the room, slamming the door after him. Almost immediately the court adjourned for the day. Bode's friends gathered around him outside the court and held him until the crowd, including Hutchinson and his brother, had passed out of sight.

After the attorneys had made their opening statements today several witnesses were examined at length. The most complete testimony was given by Mrs. Hutchinson, who said she bought the pistol to kill herself and that the first shot she fired at Mrs. Bode was an accident. After that she became frenzied and did not know what she was doing.

"SLATE" SHOT TO PIECES BY ONE WOMAN

ONLY FEMALE DELEGATE IN IDAHO CONVENTION IS NAMED FOR OFFICE.

GOODING RENOMINATED, ROOSEVELT INDORSED—NO REFERENCE TO THE STEUNENBURG MURDER CASE.

POCATELLO, Idaho, Aug. 1.—A woman smashed the slate prepared by the Republican leaders in Idaho.

In a convention in which there was only one woman delegate, a stampede was effected this evening and Miss Belle Chamberlain of Boise City, was nominated for state superintendent of public instruction over E. A. Carpenter of Idaho Falls. The sympathy of the convention was with Miss Chamberlain from the first, and when Ada county cast its 27 votes for Carpenter there was a storm of hisses. Every delegation voting for the lady was cheered and before the vote could be announced the convention was carried by storm and Miss Chamberlain's nomination was made unanimous.

R. W. McBride of Salmon City, slated for state mining inspector, was not presented to the convention, and Robert M. Bell, present incumbent, was renominated. The ticket was named as follows:

Justice of the supreme court, George H. Stewart, Boise; member of congress, Burton Lee French, of Moscow, renominated; governor, Frank R. Gooding, of Shoshone, renominated; lieutenant governor, E. A. Burrill, Montpelier; secretary of state, Robert Landsdon, Welser; treasurer, C. A. Hastings, Lewiston; auditor, Robert S. Bragaw, of Kootenai county, renominated; attorney general John J. Gubsen, Pocatello; superintendent of public instruction, Miss S. Belle Chamberlain, Boise; inspector of mines, Robert M. Bell, Blackfoot, renominated; for United States senator, William E. Borah of Boise.

The resolutions adopted indorse the administration of President Roosevelt and pledge the Republican party of Idaho to support his continued effort to carry out the policy which he has inaugurated.

The resolutions make no direct reference to the assassination of former Governor Steunenberg or of the criminal charges growing out of that crime.

A law prohibiting the employment of underground laborers in mines more than eight hours a day and the enactment of an employers' liability law modeled after the federal statute on this subject, are recommended.

LOCOMOTIVE EXPLODES AND TWO ARE KILLED

GARDEN CITY, Kan., Aug. 1.—By the explosion of a locomotive on Santa Fe freight, No. 31, at Mansfield, six miles east of here, this morning, Engineer E. E. Holmes and an unknown boy were killed and Fireman E. W. Quinlan seriously injured. The latter will lose his sight.

It was Holmes' second trip and the boy was riding in the cab with him. Holmes was married and his widow lives at Raton, N. M.

BIGELOW'S CREDITORS GET SMLLL DIVIDEND

MILWAUKEE, Aug. 1.—The final account of the trustee of the bankrupt estate of Frank G. Bigelow, the defaulting bank president who is now serving sentence in Fort Leavenworth prison, was filed today. The trustee says that there is sufficient money on hand to pay a final dividend of 1.22 per cent, making a total dividend of 11.44 per cent on approved claims, aggregating $1,242,965.

[illegible]

CHEYENNE, Wyo., Aug. 1.—The total registration for lands in the [illegible] reservation, which closed last evening, is 10,591. The greatest registration was at Shoshone, where were registered 4,358. Commissioner of the General Land Office W. A. Richards will leave Shoshone tomorrow for Lander, with his clerks, to superintend the drawing which takes place at Lander.

The Lander land office will be moved temporarily to Shoshone, where the filings will be received until October 3, when the land office will be reopened.

The registration has been smaller than was anticipated, but most of those registered are bona fide homeseekers, comparatively few speculators having taken the trouble to register. The state authorities are [illegible] by the fact that [illegible] of the applicants [illegible] [illegible]

ANOTHER TUNNEL SCHEME REPORTED

EL PASO, MARY M'KINNEY AND ELKTON COMPANY SAID TO BE READY TO BEGIN WORK AT ONCE.

Work upon the proposed deep drainage tunnel for the Cripple Creek district will be started btween now and August 15, according to information received from Cripple Creek last night. It is understood that the money for the driving of the tunnel has been subscribed principally by the El Paso, Mary McKinney and Elkton Consolidated companies, and that the necessary machinery has been ordered and will arrive in the Cripple Creek district within the next two weeks.

These three companies have been most seriously hampered in development work by the water situation, and have been most energetic in pushing the project for a deeper tunnel. While it is understood that other mining companies of the district, directly or indirectly affected by the proposed tunnel, are to contribute to the expense of driving it, the brunt of the expense will be borne by these three.

While the plans for the tunnel have not been given out definitely, and the companies interested have not stated whether the Gatch Park, or intermediate tunnel, or the Window Rock, or deep-level tunnel, has been finally selected, it is understood that it is the latter that has been favored, and that, with some modifications, it will be the one to be driven. This tunnel is 1,180 feet below the present El Paso tunnel, giving it a total depth of about 2,450 feet. It is about three miles and a half in length, and the estimated cost is $510,000. With some changes in the length and area drained, it is said that the cost has been considerably reduced below this fugure.

It is barely possible, in order to get the tunnel completed quickly, that work will be started in three, and perhaps five, different places.

S. S. Bernard, president of the El Paso company, last night, in discussing the Cripple Creek report, stated that as yet no action had been taken, and that the final decision as regards the selection of the tunnel and the actual beginning of work seemed as far distant as it did six months ago. He refused to verify the report. Mr. Bernard was the only officer of either the El Paso, Elkton or Mary McKinney companies with whom an interview could be obtained last night.

SPEND $15,000,000 FOR CARS

MONTREAL, August 1.—The directors of the Grand Trunk Pacific railway have decided to spend $15,000,000 on rolling stock, to be paid for by the issue of 4 per cent debenture stock on the road.

DEFICIT SHRINKS FROM JULY, 1905

UNCLE SAM'S EXPENDITURES FOR THE MONTH, HOWEVER, EXCEEDED RECEIPTS BY $13,514,869.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 1.—The monthly comparative statement of the government receipts and expenditures, issued today, shows that for the month of July, 1906, the total receipts were $52,298,852, and the expenditures $65,813,721, leaving a deficit for the month of $13,514,869, as against a deficit on August 1, 1905, of $13,855,663.

One year ago however, the semiannual settlement note of the Central Pacific Railroad company, amounting to $2,726,000, was paid on the last day of July, so that it was taken into the July account. The note of the company, amounting to $2,620,820, due August 1, 1906, was not paid until today, and therefore will be stated in the August account. The actual deficit this month, therefore, is $3,101,424 less than for July, 1905. The receipts from the several series of revenue are given as follows:

Customs, $26,156,677; increase, $4,511,000.

Internal revenue, $22,102,235; increase, $1,014,000.

Miscellaneous, $4,019,689; decrease, $2,575,000.

The expenditures for the month were $2,686,000 in excess of those for July, 1905, which is largely due to work on the Panama canal.

RUMOR SAYS MUTINY NOW IS QUELLED

REACTIONARY PAPER PUBLISHES NEWS OF M. HERZENSTEIN'S DEATH HOURS BEFORE IT OCCURRED.

HELSINGFORS, Aug. 2.—(12:50 a. m.)—The latest news from the fortress tends to confirm the report that the mutineers have surrendered. The mutineers undoubtedly had the upper hand until the battleships Slava and Czarevitch arrived on the scene and commenced to bombard them with such telling effect that the central magazine was blown up and the biggest guns in the hands of the revolutionists were rendered practically useless.

Commander Togel and 2,000 loyal infantrymen then surrounded the barracks. They were under continual fire from the revolutionists, to which they could not reply.

The men undoubtedly were led to surrender because of their lack of big guns, their need of provisions which they had failed to secure and the arrival of the warships.

The correspondent of the Associated Press spoke to an officer who had returned from Sveaborg about the conditions there.

"Yes," he said in reply to a question, "white flags have been hoisted, but this may be a ruse to get the ships closer into shore. I don't know anything further."

ST. PETERSBURG, Aug. 1.—M. Herzenstein, former member of the outlawed parliament, in which he was a prominent leader of the Constitutional Democrats, was assassinated at his country house near Terioki, Finland, by men in the pay of the Black Hundred organization.

M. Herzenstein was walking along the seashore with his wife and daughter, when several shots were fired at him from an unoccupied building. M. Herzenstein was hit twice and fell dead. His daughter was wounded in the hand. The murderers escaped.

A reactionary paper of Moscow published the news of the murder of M. Herzenstein yesterday morning more than 12 hours before the perpetration of the crime.

HELSINGFORS, Aug. 2.—12:40 a. m.—A rumor of the surrender of the entire mutinous force at Sveaborg was brought over to Helsingfors by the postmaster at Sveaborg. It is impossible to confirm this rumor here. The fire from the cruisers has seriously damaged the fortifications.

There has been no firing for the last two hours.

The mutineers have failed in their efforts to secure provisions.

HELSINGFORS, Aug. 2.—12:30 a. m.—Except in the vicinity of the fort, the town present practically a normal aspect. During the evening large crowds assembled on the quays listening to the cannonade and watching the dense columns of smoke rising from the islands. All traffic in the harbor has been prohibited. After nightfall the governor issued an order closing all public houses. Regular traffic has been resumed with St. Petersburg, the railroad bridge between Riihmaki and Ryttylae, which was blown up by members of the "Red Guard" having been repaired. Prior to the blowing up of this bridge members of the "Red Guard" seized the Frederickshurg station and stopped the St. Petersburg mail train.

The white flag has been hoisted on one of the islands, but it is premature to say whether the revolutionaries there have surrendered or not. In any event, however, the fire from the battleship Slava and another warship undoubtedly had its effect.

The Sveaborg mutiny first broke out Monday in a sapper battalion which had been disarmed in the fortress. The artillery joined in the revolt and together the mutineers took possession of the forts. The commander of the fortress appealed personally to the [illegible] but his words were unheeded. The mutiny supposedly assumed an aggressive character.

S. S. BERNARD IS REINSTATED

J. J. M., JR., NOW RACING ON MISSOURI GRAND CIRCUIT. FOUR BERNARD HORSES TO RACE HERE.

S. S. Bernard, the wealthy mine-owner and horseman of this city, has been reinstated by the American Trotting association after having been barred from the turf for life by the judges of the recent meet at Overland park in Denver. Mr. Bernard's reinstatement is in the form of a temporary reinstatement issued by President W. P. Igams of Terre Haute, Ind., and Secretary W. H. Knight of Chicago, this being the only form in which the reinstatement can be issued until confirmed by the board of appeals. This body will not meet until its annual meeting in Chicago in December, when it will be simply a matter of formality in making Mr. Bernard's reinstatement permanent.

Mr. Bernard received official notice of his reinstatement which accords him full privileges in the trotting world, this week. He has already sent with his driver, Ed Davis, J. J. M., Jr., the Denver was caused, to Missouri, to fill horse over which all the trouble at his entries in the various meets on the Missouri Grand circuit. Mr. Bernard will enter J. J. M., Jr., in the Colorado-New Mexico circuit, which opens with the Colorado Springs meet on August 21. In addition, he will also enter Briquette, the $5,000 mare which he secured in California last year; Rightaway, a full brother to Stratton, 2:05¼, and Bella McCarty, the mare by McKinney, the leading sire for 2:10 horses in the world.

Petty and O'Connor; Falkenberg, Heydon and Wakefield.

PITCHER BATS OUT VICTORY.

DETROIT, August 1.—Donohue gave a great exhibition today, scoring the winning run on his own triple in the eighth and retiring New York without a run in the ninth after the bases had been filled on two hits and an error, with none out. Newton pitched fine ball, but was taken out to let Delehanty bat. Score:

Detroit	0	1	0	0	0	0	0	1	*	2	6	1
New York	0	0	0	0	1	0	0	0	0	1	7	0

Donohue and Schmidt; Newton, Griffith and Kleinow.

HESS SAVED THE GAME.

CLEVELAND, August 1.—Bender was wild in the fourth and Cleveland scored six runs on three passes, three hits, an error and a double steal. Eels also developed a wild streak and was replaced by Hess in time to save the game. Turner's fielding was brilliant. Score:

	R.	H.	E.

HORSES ARRIVE

STRING OF RUNNERS EN ROUTE TO ROSWELL PARK — IN OVERLAND.

Roswell track is again resuming the activity which precedes the annual race meet. The first string of runners has arrived and been stabled at the tracks in preparation for the opening of the meet on August 21. Two carloads of horses, about 30 in all, have arrived from Denver, where the ponies have been since the closing of the Overland meet. At least three carloads more are expected before the end of the week, so that within a short time there will be from 75 to 100 horses quartered at the park.

"GUILTY OR NOT GUILTY?"

EX-PHILIPPINE SOLDIER DID NOT KNOW WHETHER HE HAD FORGED OR NOT.

MORPHINE SOAKED, HE THANKS JUDGE CUNNINGHAM FOR SENDING HIM TO STATE REFORMATORY.

Pleading guilty to a charge of forgery, but adding that he did not know whether or not he was guilty, George H Corson, 30 years old, a former chief cook at the Antlers hotel, told a remarkably pathetic story to Judge Louis W Cunningham, in the district court yesterday After his trial, Judge Cunningham sentenced Corson to an indefinite term at the state reformatory at Buena Vista

Corson blames his criminal acts to the fact that he served Uncle Sam as a soldier in the Philippines during the Spanish-American war When he left Colorado Springs for the east with a regiment of Colorado volunteers, he says he was in perfect health. After reaching Manila he was afflicted with trouble of the stomach, and a native Philippine physician gave him bismuth and opium He became addicted to the opium habit, purchased an opium pipe, and brought it back to Colorado Springs at the close of the war

He continued to smoke opium for two years after his return, and then became disgusted with the habit and threw away his pipe But the drug had obtained too strong a hold on his system. He craved a narcotic day and night. He could not sleep for want of the drug He had thrown away his pipe, and was forced to take morphine in its stead

For the last two years, according to the young man's story, he has almost lived on morphine His craving for the drug grew and he was under its influence a greater part of the time He says that it was while under the drug's influence that he forged the check—if he did forge it—in order to obtain money to purchase more morphine

"I would give anything in the world to get rid of the habit and I ask your honor to send me some place where the habit which is ruining my life may be broken," Corson pleaded to Judge Cunningham, with tears in his eyes.

When sentence was pronounced, Corson thanked the judge for sending him to the reformatory rather than to the penitentiary and he departed for Buena Vista with Undersheriff George Dayton in a happy frame of mind

The crime for which Corson pleaded guilty was forging a check for $2.50 on the First National bank of this city, and passing the check on B G. Robbins the clothier The young man signed the name of his mother, Mrs Jessie D. Corson, to the check

Corson told Judge Cunningham that many of the soldiers who first entered Manila contracted the opium habit as a result of the prescriptions given by the native Philippine doctors influences of corporate power and we pledge ourselves to the enactment of such laws as will render it unprofitable and unpopular for corporations to engage in politics or in any way contribute to political campaigns

The abolishment of the free pass on railways is a most important step in curbing the influence of corporations in political affairs and we commend the Republican legislature which has enacted a law to this end

We are uncompromisingly in favor of the American system of protection Duties on foreign imports should not be levied for revenue only but should be so adjusted as to promote our domestic interests enlarge our foreign markets secure remunerative prices for the products of our factories and farms and maintain a superior scale of wages and standard of living for American labor Wise and unselfish tariff laws maintained in the interest of the general welfare equally opposed to foreign control and domestic monopoly, are essential to our commercial and industrial prosperity We believe that all inequalities in the tariff schedules which inevitably arise from changing industrial and commercial conditions should be adjusted from time to time; and condemn without reserve all assaults upon the protective system We favor such reasonable and timely changes as will keep the tariff in harmony with our industrial and commercial progress

We favor the reciprocity inaugurated by Blaine advocated by McKinley and Roosevelt as recognized in Republican platforms and legislation

The Republican party of Iowa appeals with confidence to the people of this state for approval of the wisdom of its policies and worth of its leaders It is and always has been the party of patriotic statesmanship

MOVEMENT IN BUSINESS AND RESIDENCE PROPERTY AND REAL ESTATE ACTIVE.

J M McClintock, of Cottonwood Falls, Kas., has purchased the Elk restaurant on Pike's Peak avenue from Charles S. Hillerman for a consideration of $8 000. The sale was negotiated by Yates & McClain, who invested the proceeds of the sale for Mr Hillerman in 1 280 acres of unimproved grazing land near Ramah, on the eastern boundary of El Paso county. Mr. Hillerman plans to enter the wool-growing industry, and is arranging to put 5,000 head of sheep on the land this summer.

James E Cope has purchased from the Hastings-Allen Building & Realty Co, the eight-room modern house at the corner of El Paso and Cache la Poudre, for a consideration of $2,450. The company reports several sales in Hastings Heights addition, in the northeast portion of the city. Miss Eliza Ainsworth has purchased the south 35 feet of lot 4 and the north 15 feet of lot 5, block 6, located on Miles avenue, near Uintah street. She has placed an order for a five-room modern bungalow. The city has completed a 12-inch water main in that section.

Emma Margeson has purchased lot 5, block 10, in the Hastings 5th addition.

J. D. Cooper, of Harrisburg, Pa., has purchased 326 acres, about 9 miles north east of Colorado Springs. The land is improved, and belonged to Jasper Davidson. The sale was made by W. W. Williamson, consideration, $3,500

STORY OF PIKE

WORLD'S WORK PUBLISHES EXTENSIVE ILLUSTRATED ARTICLE ON CENTENNIAL OF DISCOVERY OF PEAK.

In the July issue of the World's Work is a prominent ten-page feature story of the Pike Centennial celebration. The article is one of the best yet written on the celebration and on the Pike's Peak region.

The article is entitled "The Pike's Peak Centennial A picturesque celebration of Captain Pike's discovery to be held this fall—the story of the teeming region that gold mines and railroads have developed about the towering scenic wonder" Its author is Lawrence Lewis, of Pueblo.

Beginning with a general outline of the main features of the celebration, Mr Lewis tells of the discovery of Pike's Peak 100 years ago, of the first ascent of the Peak, of the early development of the region, the story of Cripple Creek and the Short Line, a history of the "blazing of the trail" and the construction of the Cog road up Pike's Peak, and of the view to be obtained from the summit.

The article is profusely illustrated with pictures of Pike's Peak avenue, the Garden of the Gods, scenes along the carriage and Cog roads, a view of the summit of the Peak, the famous "Sunrise From Pike's Peak," snowdrifts in June, and pictures of Cripple Creek.

Never Sent a Man to the Hospital.

During the Spanish-American war I commanded Company G, 9th Illinois infantry. During our stay in Cuba nearly every man in the company had diarrhoea or stomach trouble. We never bothered sending a man to the surgeon or hospital, but gave him a dose or two of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy and next day he was all right. We always had a dozen bottles or more of it in our medicine chest.—Orra Havill. This remedy can always be depended upon for colic and diarrhoea, and should be kept on hand in every home. For sale by all druggists.

COURT NOTES

Charles Johnson, a 12-year-old colored lad, was sentenced to nine years in the state reformatory yesterday by Judge Kerr in the county court. After stealing clothes from Robbins' store, the youngster broke out of the city jail and was captured Tuesday by Probation Officer Reasoner.

The Bull Frog Nugget Mining company yesterday began a suit in the district court against Joseph C. Colligan for $5,000.

William Gordon, a Russian, yesterday filed papers declaring his intention of becoming a citizen of the United States.

Lizzie Burkhardt has begun suit for divorce from Julius Burkhardt, in the county court. She alleges desertion. The couple were married in Cripple Creek April 23, 1902.

The suit of Seldomridge Bros vs. Bemis in the county court, was yesterday awarded to plaintiff by default. The judgment is $11.45.

Laura McDonald, of 118 West Cimarron street, was sentenced to serve 30 days in the county jail for disturbance, by Justice W. N. Ruby, yesterday.

Police court records for July show that 176 arrests were made and that $276 was paid in fines.

POSTOFFICE DID BIG JULY BUSINESS

The receipts of the Colorado Springs postoffice during July ran nearly $1,000 ahead of the corresponding month last year.

The figures for the month were $10,428 05. For July, 1905, they were $9,687.89, showing an increase for July of this year over last of $740 16.

Not only did the past month run ahead of July, 1905, but a record in the sale of one-cent stamps was established the total reaching 180,000. The largest number sold in any one month before was during the visit of the G A. R. last year, when the total was 140,000.

Take a Vacation.

Now is the time to take a vacation, get out into the woods, fields and mountains and visit the seashore, but do not forget to take a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy along with you. It is almost certain to be needed and can not be obtained on railroad trains or steamships. It is too much of a risk for anyone to leave home on a journey without it. For sale by all druggists.

MEN PAST SIXTY IN DANGER

More than half of mankind over sixty years of age suffer from kidney and bladder disorders, usually enlargement of prostate gland. This is both painful and dangerous, and Foley's Kidney Cure should be taken at the first sign of danger as it corrects irregularities and has cured many old men of this disease. Mr Rodney Burnett Rockport, Mo., writes "I suffered with enlarged prostate gland and kidney trouble for years and after taking two bottles of Foley's Kidney Cure I feel better than I have for twenty years, although I am now 91 years old." For sale by the Hefley-Arcularius Drug Co.

THE GREATEST GORGE OF ALL, VIA RIO GRANDE, SATURDAY, AUGUST 4, $3.00 ROUND TRIP, $3.00.

Societies and Clubs

The meeting of the Ladies' Aid society of the Cumberland Presbyterian church has been postponed [illegible] next week

The Woman's auxiliary to the First Baptist church will give an entertainment entitled "An Evening in the Southland," at the church tonight at 8:00 o'clock.

NEW CITY CHARTER COMMITTEE ACTIVE

SIGNATURES OF CITIZENS BEING OBTAINED TO PETITION WHICH GOES TO COUNCIL MONDAY NIGHT.

Renewed efforts to secure the necessary signatures to the petition for a charter convention were made yesterday when the petitions were circulated among the business men of the city. A large number of signatures were secured and members of the joint committee will not lessen their efforts until the petitions are withdrawn at the end of the week.

There has been no opposition to the movement to secure a new charter. Five per cent of the vote cast in the last gubernatorial election is required, which means that the petition must secure at least 550 signatures before it can be presented to the city council at its regular meeting next Monday night.

At its meeting tonight the Merchants association will consider the proposed charter convention as well as plans to advertise the Pike Centennial celebration. It is probable that some uniform method of decorating the city during the celebration will be agreed upon.

The Best Diarrhoea Remedy.

"I have used Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, and consider it the best remedy of the kind on the market," says W F Mayes, a prominent merchant of Wallisville, Texas. This remedy always effects a quick cure and is pleasant to take. Every family should keep it at hand during the summer months. For sale by all druggists.

RACED WITH DEATH; GRIM REAPER WON

J S. Morton the wealthy St Joseph Mo man who was brought to Colorado Springs by a special train last Friday night in the last stages of tuberculosis and taken to St Francis hospital, died Tuesday night at the hospital. Mr Morton was accompanied by his wife his father, S R Morton and Dr W F Schmid, a prominent St Joseph, physician. He was one of the wealthiest men in St Joseph and well known in business circles. The remains were taken to St. Joseph for interment.

MAY PROVE FATAL

When Will Colorado Springs People Learn the Importance of It?

Backache is only a simple thing at first.

But when you know 'tis from the kidneys,

That serious kidney troubles follow,

That diabetes, Bright's disease may be the fatal end,

You will gladly profit by the following experience.

'Tis the statement of a Colorado Springs citizen.

James Niles, of 15 East Cimarron street, carpenter, says:

"During the fall of 1898 and the winter of 1899, an attack of headache persistently clung to me. If I had taken it in time I might have checked it in its earliest stages, but I neglected it, and when I procured Doan's Kidney Pills there was not the slightest doubt but some derangement of the kidneys caused the annoyance. As the treatment cured me, I am only too pleased to endorse the remedy."

Plenty more proof like this from Colorado Springs people. Call at D. Y. Butcher Drug company's store and ask what their customers report.

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

A suit room sale unlike anything that has ever been attempted in Colorado Springs

Prices are more reduced, styles are more desirable, throughout these offers are more attractive than any ever put before the buying public.

Here are women's midsummer garments that are the height of fashion from collar to skirt hem. Every model is worthy of a place in the wardrobe of the most exacting dresser but we're through with them according to the policy adopted when this store was first established a policy so far-reaching as to compel the absolute clearance of every mite of one season's merchandise before the unpacking of new goods begins. It covers the entire store this policy and just now gives you these garments at prices which any woman can see are less than the bare materials are worth. It's now or never these must go fast.

BECOMING A MOTHER

Is an ordeal which all women approach with indescribable fear, for nothing compares with the pain and horror of child-birth. The thought of the suffering and danger in store for her, robs the expectant mother of all pleasant anticipations of the coming event, and casts over her a shadow of gloom which cannot be shaken off. Thousands of women have found that the use of Mother's Friend during pregnancy robs confinement of all pain and danger, and insures safety to life of mother and child. This scientific liniment is a god send to all women at the time of their most critical trial. Not only does Mother's Friend carry women safely through the perils of child-birth, but its use gently prepares the system for the coming event, prevents [illegible] and other distress of this period. Sold by all druggists at $1.00 per bottle. [illegible]

PRESS CLUB SHOW BILL IS FILLED WITH RARE NOVELTIES

The success of the big Press club show, to be given at the Opera house August 13, afternoon and evening, is assured. A glance over the cast of characters for the skit, "The Roosevelt Bear Hunt," one of the leading features, will convince any Doubting Thomas of that fact. This skit is only one of the many good things on the program. The cast includes the leading local dramatic performers, together with a number of local newspaper men. It is as follows:

President Roosevelt....Edward F. McKay
Anville Hammer, a race suicide advocate ....George Hemus
Lariat Larry, cowboy ....Julius M. Worthington
Con Connor, book agent....Walter Ashby
Secretary Probe....T. Ernest Nowels
Loper Swift, courier....M. M. Rathbun
John Scoff ....W. W. Wiswall
Reddy Ink, a cub reporter....A. K. Stone
Jake Begorrah ....H. H. Fawcett
Cowboys, official photographer, reporters, lions, etc.

Four professional actors will put on a roaring farce comedy, "The Original Pikers," which has been written especially for the Press club show by M. M. Rathbun. This clever skit is chock full of local hits, and there will be nothing but laughter while "The Original Piker" are before the footlights.

Julius M. Worthington, who has a remarkably strong and cultivated voice, will sing "Danny Deever."

Another feature of the show will be De Harport and his Mexican solitario. De Harport is the only solitario player now traveling in the United States. He is making a big hit this week with the instrument at the Orpheum in Denver.

The cast for "The Roosevelt Bear Hunt" will rehearse this afternoon at 5 o'clock at the Pike's Peak Press club.

DE HARPORT.

A DELIGHTFUL WAY TO SPEND THE EVENING, take a Casino car for a twenty-minute ride to Broadmoor Casino; Table d'Hote Dinner on the veranda; concert 7 to 9; dancing 9 to 11. Phone 271.

NEBRASKANS HAVE FUN IN THE CANONS

A party of Nebraskans, 18 in number, from Beatrice, Neb., spent yesterday picknicking in Stratton park and Cheyenne canon. After dinner, the party visited both North and South Cheyenne canons. Those enjoying the outing were Mr. Henry Shafer and daughter, Bernice, Mrs. S. D. Killen and daughter, Ethel, Mrs. Wells, and daughter, Ella, Mrs. Harris, Mrs. Anna Miller and daughters, Gertrude and Julia, Mrs. Byron Bradt and daughters, Ines and Edith, Beulah Albright, Dr. and Mrs. Albright and [illegible] Robert of Beatrice, Neb., and Mrs. [illegible]ender, son and daughter, of Freeport, Ill.

STOCKHOLDERS HELD LIABLE FOR TAXES

BUTTE, Mont., Aug. 1.—Resident stockholders of mining stock are subject to taxation on that stock, is the opinion handed down by Attorney General Albert J. Galen, in response to a query from W. D. Clark, chairman of the board of county commissioners of Silver Bow county. At the present, according to the commissioners, about $10,000,000 worth of Amalgamated, United Copper and other mining stocks, held by residents of Butte, are escaping taxation, and it was the desire of the commissioners to ascertain whether or not under the Montana statutes stock of a foreign corporation whose property was located in the state could be assessed.

NORMAL INSTITUTE LISTENS TO LEADING EDUCATORS

Dr. Winship, of Boston, and Dr. Miller, of State Normal School, Deliver Interesting Lectures---Kate Stevens, of London, to Speak Today.

Three lectures were delivered before the Normal institute, in session at the High school, yesterday afternoon. Dr. A. E. Winship, of Boston, spoke on "A Little American Girl and Her Polander Mother," and "The Mind We Train." Dr. G. R. Miller of the State Normal school of Greeley, spoke on the necessity of teaching "Oral Expression."

This afternoon at 3:30 o'clock, Miss Kate Stevens, principal of the Girls Teachers Training school of London and a leading educator, will address the institute.

"The public school is the public's school," said Dr. Winship in his first lecture, "and its mission is to serve the public in the most and the best ways." He gave a graphic picture of the work being done by Julia Richman, one of the district superintendents of New York city. She has a slum district with 25,000 children, who live with their parents, brothers and sisters in a territory less than half a square mile. When she took charge of the work there had never been a child above the sixth grade. Today there are 2,000 in the seventh and eighth.

In his lecture on "The Mind We Train," which was given at 3:30 o'clock as an extra lecture, Dr. Winship said:

"The new century, with its new activities and new interests, must leave a new thought as to the mission of the school. All the systematic training for life that most persons receive is in the school before they are 16 years of age. It is ridiculous to assume that we have trained a child for life in America in the twentieth century when we have taught him how to read, write and cipher. A bright child, at the right time of life, can learn all of these studies he will ever be called upon to use, in two years' time. While learning to do these things, in eight years of school life, the children are to be trained to use the mind effectively in all ways.

"The mind is the greatest force, the greatest power-producing instrumentality ever created. Before it Niagara is a pigmy. We are only beginning to suspect its power over all matter. What could be more absurd than to put such a mind into the hands of a teacher with instructions to teach it how to do a few childish things with words and numbers?

"From six to sixteen, the mind will develop anyway, but we ask the school to give that mind, while developing, power, poise and alertness. We can develop these in a thousand ways, but the public insists that the schools for which it pays shall do it by teaching those facts and processes that will be of greatest avail through life."

In demonstrating how the ordinary school topics can be used to these ends, Dr. Winship said:

"The principal object of teaching is to direct the child where to place the attention to greatest profit; how to get it there quickest, and keep it there most intently. The business of the school is to train children to get the most that is worth while out of mental activity."

Professor Miller gave some practical information regarding the teaching of oral expression. He said in part:

"One of the most intricate processes of the human mind is this process of oral speech. It is the basis of most of our educational efforts. Teaching ought to begin with it, and constant effort be applied to it in the school course. No other field of school work equals it in breadth and possibilities.

But despite its accepted importance, there are few schools in which systematic, well-regulated teaching of oral English is required. School curriculums are rare in which daily class periods in oral English are demanded.

If we can impart to the children the ability of free and ready oral expression, we shall have accomplished a result which will facilitate all other modes of expression. In developing ability in the use of oral language, we can make possible a degree of mental freedom which can be induced by no other means.

The idea of the desirability of accuracy of expression is responsible in part for the restrictions often imposed on oral language teaching. Accuracy is certainly desirable, but it is a useless and impossible acquirement without the primary activity of expression. Activity is a fundamental condition of growth. Accuracy must of necessity be a second consideration.

It is our opinion that school curriculums can be so formulated that the teaching of oral English shall be more free than it is at present from unnecessary and restrictive criticism of the child's work, and that school programs can be so adjusted that daily practice can be offered for the free, spontaneous utterance of consecutive ideas by the pupils.

One prominent cause of weakness in oral English classes is that little or no opportunity is offered to test and develop power in continuity of thought expression. Constant questioning on the part of the teacher characterizes most recitation periods. This method is not stimulative of a continuous thought current and its expression, but it is rather a repressive influence not inducing free utterance on the part of the pupil. The question method will produce expression, but the product is too often a series of speculative answers which show little evidence of continuous thought power.

There should be a period in the daily life of every common school department when the formal routine shall be broken, and the pupils be given opportunity for natural, unrestricted utterance of thought. This period should be carefully planned in the mind of the teacher, but to the pupils it should be a period in which the interest of the school shall center in the pupils themselves. It should be a time when the current of thought shall be reversed and emanate from pupils, and not from the teacher. The children [illegible] become the entertainers; the teacher [illegible] become a part of the audience. The work for the period should be mythical, literary and historical stories that form a part of the required curriculum. Not a heterogeneous selection of material, but a carefully [illegible] series of valuable creations, [illegible] literary and historical value.

This literature work, if we may so call it, should constitute a unity in each department. And the combined curriculums of the various departments should form a continuity of content throughout the entire school.

The child is entitled to systematic instruction in oral expression from the time he enters school until he leaves it. Our experience is that a reasonable amount of time given to this subject will do much to [illegible] the natural freedom of the child, and encourage the expression of thought in all departments of work. It can be made a rational stimulus to [illegible] all other branches of school activity.

But one of the most satisfactory results is its evident power to develop the self-control and poise of children while engaged in thinking, and expressing their thought orally. Under systematic daily practice in story telling [illegible] in the [illegible] will display a growth of memory, power of argument, and strength in expression of thought, that would be deemed impossible by persons who have not observed the results of systematic training.

The child who can come to the front of the class room, face his companions and speak to them intelligently and with self-control, for even a short period of time, is in possession of a positive power. And if he is left free and is able to carry his effort to a successful issue, he has grown in power, self-respect, and in the respect of his fellows. That one act of successful accomplishment has done much. It has probably contributed more to the general mental and moral growth of the child than has any other one act of that school day. It was self-activity working out its great mystery of growth. It was self-activity, exercised freedom to act, producing before us the very reality for which we strive—a creation.

Regarding "Continuity," Dr. Miller said:

The story work of each grade should form a continuity of subject matter. Abiding interest can be best secured by this means. The stories for a term should be a successive series on the same general subject. The term's work should form a unit. The interest of the child should be maintained and his knowledge be made stable and usable by the logical relations of the several parts of the story work.

The key to success in any branch of school work is the interest of the pupils. A permanent interest in any subject is dependent on the closeness of relation of subject material. Isolated subjects make unified and permanent interest impossible. The richest part of instruction is relationships. Chaotic knowledge cannot become a means of power. That knowledge is a power, only which is usable. And that knowledge only is usable which exists in the mind in closely related thought masses. Herbart says, "Great moral energy is the effect of great and entire unbroken thought masses."

To best develop the power of the child the story work of each grade should form one continuous thought unity. A heterogenous series of stories will dissipate more energy than it will generate.

When each grade does only one single line of story work all parts of the work are intensified. It grows in interest, creating power as time passes, and acquires character and stability as it advances.

More definite results can be demanded of both teachers and pupils if this plan of work is followed, than can be expected when miscellaneous story work is encouraged.

THE CURB ORDINANCE.

LAST MARCH the Council passed an ordinance, establishing a uniform curb line on each street and empowering property-owners to extend their curbing thereto, treating the inclosed space as sidewalk parking. It was provided that before extending his curb a property-owner must gain the written consent of the other owners of property in the block, unless he happened to own as much as a half a block, in which case the consent of the others was not necessary.

Thus far the results of this ordinance have not been at all satisfactory, simply because of the provision just mentioned. Very little work of the kind has been done, because it is usually difficult for a man who is public spirited enough to extend his curb to secure the consent of his more "conservative" neighbors. The most conspicuous example of the good results to be had by curb extension are to be observed at the northeast corner of Tejon and St. Vrain streets. For a half block on St. Vrain street the curb was extended thirty feet from the property line and for a less distance on Tejon it was carried out fifteen feet, these distances being the limitations defined for these streets in the ordinance. The curb was built of concrete and the inclosed space sown with grass seed. The effect here is particularly pleasing because the buildings on this corner are set close to the property line and the added lawn space makes them appear farther back from the street than they actually are.

Objection has been made to the curb ordinance on the ground that it would narrow the streets, the extraordinary width of which is one of the city's chiefest charms. This objection seems to us unfounded, for it is not the street that is narrowed but the roadway, which is a very different thing. With curbs extended, the distance between the sidewalks on either side of the street would remain the same. The trees would be just as far apart as they are now and thus the vista would remain the same except that it would be made more beautiful by the double row of even grass plats where now is only dusty roadway and patches of weeds. There would be no extension of property lines and no moving of sidewalks. The dust area—that is, the roadway which produces dust—would be reduced to one-third to one-half, and this in itself is a weighty argument in favor of curb extension. The advantages of wide streets are many, but it can not be denied that the extreme width of our streets is responsible for much of the dust nuisance, a nuisance already aggravated by the sandy character of the soil. If there is a practicable plan by which the dust area can be reduced without actually narrowing the streets it ought by all means to be adopted.

The uniform curb ordinance is now practically a dead letter, but it is too good a law to be nullified by a single bad clause. To repeal it entirely would be a serious mistake, but it could be vitalized and made an instrument of great benefit to the city by repealing the provision requiring the consent of all property-owners in the block. The Council should take this action without further delay; then let the people who want to make Colorado Springs a more beautiful city go ahead with their curb extensions and by their example stimulate others to do likewise. It is unreasonable to hamper public spirited citizens by restrictions which benefit nobody and only gratify the whims of a few who are less progressive.

TELEPHONE ETIQUETTE.

JUST NOW Denver, which is always excited about something, is devoting a large share of its attention to the consequences of a quarrel between two prominent men over the use of a party-line telephone. The results thus far are the arrest of one of the men on a charge of assault with intent to kill, the beginning of a suit against the same individual for $50,000 damages, and the engendering of a feud which will probably last as long as the principals live. The quarrel was caused by a young woman "tying up" the line for thirty-two minutes while she talked to a friend. Meanwhile a man who rented a 'phone on the same party line became angry because he could not get connection with the central office, and used rather forcible language to the young woman who was responsible for the delay. She tearfully told her father about it and he wrathfully started gunning for the other man. Then came a free-for-all fight in which a horsewhip and a revolver figured conspicuously.

Without expressing an opinion on the merits of this case, it may be well to call attention to the unmitigated nuisance which seems to be at the bottom of it. This is the "whole hog" habit of some people who rent party telephones. Some party lines are shared by two subscribers, some by four, and some by ten, and on each of these lines there is usually at least one subscriber who seems to regard it as his private possession. He forgets, or doesn't care, that another person, or perhaps three or nine other persons, as the case may be, have as much right to use the line as he has. His favorite performance is to get connection with a long-lost friend at the other end, and then hang on the line ten or even fifteen minutes, blissfully oblivious to the desires of other subscribers who may have better reason to use the 'phone at that particular time than he has.

These are or ought to be rules of telephone etiquette as well as for the other affairs of life, but they are not commonly observed. For example: Brown tells his office boy to put in a call for Smith. The boy gets the desired number and Smith answers the call. But Brown, instead of being ready to talk to the man for whom he has asked, is now doing something else, and Smith is compelled to wait two or three minutes to accommodate somebody else whom, perhaps, he doesn't want to talk to, but who insists on wanting to talk to him.

Another telephone practice which might well be done away with is the never-ending question, "Who's this?" which greets nearly everybody who answers a call. One would scarcely think of accosting another on the street with the blunt question, "Who are you?" or "Who is this?" but when a few feet or a few miles of wire separate the parties the conversation assumes a different aspect. It would be just as easy and much more courteous, when one is in doubt as to whether the person who has answered the call is the one sought, to say "Is this Mr. Blank?" The salutation, "Hello," which became general when the telephone came into use, has been discarded by the central operators for the more polite phrase, "Number, please?" and in many business houses it is the custom to respond to calls with the formula, "This is Smith & Brown's," instead of "Hello." These are little things, of course, but little things count and there really is as good reason why people should be polite when using the telephone as at other times.

A GRAND JURY FIZZLE.

IF SHERIFF EDWARD BELL, of Teller County, ever emerges from beneath the thick coat of whitewash with which a benevolent grand jury has so graciously covered him it will probably be discovered that his features wear an expansive grin. Whether the grin will outwear the whitewash remains to be seen, but just now Mr. Bell has every reason to feel abundantly satisfied with himself and the grand jury.

One of two things is certain: Either District Attorney Hamlin has grossly maligned an innocent man—which there is not the slightest reason to believe is the case—or else Edward Bell is no more fit to be Sheriff of Teller County than a horse thief is fit to be President of the United States. If the things which Mr. Hamlin said in his address to the court when the grand jury was discharged are true, Bell is a criminal. No other interpretation can be placed on Mr. Hamlin's statement, which is as follows:

Up to the time that my active service before the jury ceased, a condition of affairs was disclosed by the evidence before the jury, in the Sheriff's office, which passed my understanding; a condition of graft, conducted month after month, aided and supported by perjury, forgery, falsifying of receipts and records; but it seems that the jury in its wisdom has seen fit to pass over all of these charges.

If this condition existed it was the plain duty of the grand jury to return indictments accordingly, but the grand jury "in its wisdom" did nothing of the kind. It passed over all of the serious charges which have been matters of common gossip in the Cripple Creek District for some time—and indicted Bell only on a charge of malfeasance involving $9.60, a charge on which the District Attorney declared "it would be impossible to convict him before any jury." For this reason Mr. Hamlin asked that the case be nolled.

When so important an official as the District Attorney makes charges of this character in open court against another official they can not be ignored. Where there is so much smoke there must be some fire; where there is so much talk about official misconduct and dishonesty there must be some foundation for it. The late grand jury has shown itself utterly inefficient to discharge the duties for which it was called, not only in regard to the Sheriff but to other officials. If there is no other way to get at the truth another grand jury ought to be summoned. It certainly could do no worse and it might do infinitely better than its predecessor.

People who are inclined to feel wrathful over the extortion practiced by the street railway may find a grain of comfort in the knowledge that the hold-up game is being worked to provide additional funds to build a home for the poor in which they may find refuge after the company has got all their money—provided they live long enough.

A number of Russell Sage's relations who had a healthy contempt for him during his life, are now getting ready to fight for a larger share of his fortune. It isn't Uncle Russell they're interested in, but his money.

A Victor man of abstemious habits fell off a street sprinkler and broke three ribs, which shows how utterly futile it is for anybody to attempt to stay on the water wagon in Victor.

Why doesn't the Czar present his navy to the mutineers as a free gift and thus prevent all danger of future mutinies?

THE LOCKSTEP CUT OUT.

From the Chicago News.

With the abolition of the lockstep as a feature of prison discipline in the state institutions at Chester and Joliet, Illinois takes a step forward towards enlightened methods of penology. The trustees of these institutions have discovered, it is said, that the custom of marching prisoners from their work in single file "locked" closely together, each man's hand on the shoulder of the man preceding him, is unnecessary either as a safeguard against outbreaks of disorder or as a means of keeping up general discipline. Like the officials of the prisons at Stillwater, Minn.; Waupun, Wis., and Columbus, O., they have decided to abolish this ancient practice, adopted at a time when penal methods were crude and facilities for restraining prisoners were inadequate, is to make penitentiaries more nearly serve their true purpose as reformatory institutions. The elimination of the lockstep, like the abolition of the compulsory wearing of stripes as a prison garb, is a move toward the better system of management which practically all qualified students of penal methods now approve.

LIEUT. PIKE'S DIARY

For One Hundred Years Ago Today

Saturday, 2nd August.—The weather cleared up; the loading being spread out to dry, Dr. Robinson, myself, Bradley, Sparks, and Brown, went out to hunt; we killed four deer, and the Indians two. Having reloaded the boats we embarked at five o'clock and proceeded about two miles. The river rose in the last twenty-four hours four inches.

Open Parliament

"LET LIGHT BE LIGHT."

To the Editor of The Gazette:

Since the change has been made in the box arrangements at the postoffice, it is impossible for one to see whether or not there is any mail in his (or her) box without opening the box unless the distributer shoves the article up against the glass, unless the lights are on in the rear of the boxes. Then the light in front is so bad and the numbers on the combination of the box so small that I have seen people work for several minutes, and have done so myself before the box could be opened, often to find no mail when if the lights were on, one could always tell if there was mail in the box or not.

Now if our new postmaster would write an open appeal to Uncle Samuel and tell him how we stand, he (U. Sam) might open his heart enough to give us some light on the subject, but if not I will cheerfully subscribe something towards paying the light bill so that we may not have to grovel in the dark for our correspondence. TAX IT LATER.

From the Virginian-Pilot.

The bees on Mr. Bryan's Nebraska farm have been assessed at $5. In the absence of the owner's bonnet the presidential bee escaped the notice of the tax gatherer.

WHAT'S IN A NAME?

From the Baltimore News.

The name Chicago is derived from she-gog-ong, the locative of the word she-gog, meaning skunk. The Pottawatomies must have been gifted with second sight when Packingtown was named.

IRRESISTIBLE.

From Puck.

Summer Hotel Proprietor—Gad! We never had so many men guests before. D' you suppose it was my advertisement of fine air that brought 'em?

His Partner—No; my advertisement of fine heiresses.

G. WASHINGTON GOES ABROAD.

From the New York Tribune.

A statue of Washington rising out of a spacious Budapest public square will be saluted with acclamation by all Hungarians and be one of the kind not usually toppled over in revolutions. The members of the conference of the Reformed Hungarian church, at Phenixville, Pa., who have just appropriated $15,000 for that purpose, have not misjudged the sentiments of their compatriots.

SHOT AT PATTERSON.

From the Trinidad Chronicle-News.

Among the appropriations for Colorado made by this congress is $500,000 for a site for a public building in Denver. Patterson misrepresented this and made the Chamber of Commerce believe for a while that it was intended for site and building both, and that they had better refuse it; but the Chamber found out, almost too late what the truth was, of course, was only too glad to get the half million. Hereafter they will probably listen to Mr. Bonynge in such a matter rather than to the junior senator.

NOTHING TO BOAST OF.

From the New York Press.

Let us be frank in these respects. The modern architect as an uplifter of mankind is a distinct failure. He has reached the point where the best his marvelous mind can produce is a mere shell for elevator shafts, with offices glued to the sides, or a monstrous mausoleum as the home of a public collection or an abode for Midas. For him the ears of Midas, surmounted by the cap and bells. Away with tommyrot as to White's civic value. His memory must rest upon his character as a man, for, though he may have been the country's greatest architect, there is not in that distinction enough to lift him above the ranks of a myriad others who wear the livery of the dollar builders.

Near to Nature

WILD ANIMALS THE DOAK BOYS KNEW.

Cottage Grove Western Oregonian.

The Doak boys, T. M. and J. W., found a wolf den at Stony Point on the Dave Coleman place, three miles north of Lorane postoffice on Siuslaw. The young men needed help for the capture and got Scott Jackson. The hunters opened the entrance to the cave with a blast of powder sufficinetly large to allow the entrance of a man. Scott crawled into the cave and soon saw two shining eyes. He called for his gun and fired. The wolf was wounded, but not so badly but that she made a rush for Jackson. He beat her off and got another shot. That laid her low with two whelps that had been killed by the first shot. He captured the remaining whelps, three in number. These are snapping things and will probably have to die before they get large enough to eat poultry and mutton.

SONG HITS IN OSKALOOSA

Oskaloosa (Ia.) Globe.

The band boys gave their entertainment Saturday night. It was attended by a large crowd, and they were delightfully entertained by music of the band and graphophone. Many of our old favorite songs were played, such as "Everybody Works But Father" (a song which is a favorite with all), "In the Shade of the Old Apple Tree," and "Gee, Isn't This a Lonesome Town," etc. After the program we had a ring contest. The ring was awarded to Miss Ethel Cubit as the most popular young lady in our town.

Hallman Systma seems to call at the De Hemer home quite often, all of which would indicate that there must be some attraction up that way for him.

Lee says it was pretty muddy getting home that night.

Mr. Vern Dooms is a frequent visitor at Givin this days. I wonder what the attraction is?

ANOTHER CALL OF THE WILD.

William A. Allen, editor Emporia (Kan.) Gazette, to a party of Kansas politicians.

To Hen and Bill. (Henry Allen and William Morgan) Come on out and play; what's the use of being cooped up inside the reservation. You don't like it; you don't look well and you are doing no good. Throw off your blankets, paint up, get your tomahawks, let the air out of your lungs, and come out. Come out where they can't boss you, where you can kick up your heels and be free; where you can shoot as you please and do as you please and be your own master! Come on out—you know you want to. There's a long hot summer ahead and lots of fun coming. It's no fun to sit on the reservation and eat canned meat and sing psalms; it's no fun to have your pathway prescribed. It's no fun to feel the heat; come on out; cut and run and when you have cleaned up the soldiers of the iniquitous machine that is feeding us on embalmed beef we can go back and be good Indians. But the thing to do now is to fight for our rights. Be men and not sheep!

THE WANDERING JOKE

By John A. Hosp, in the Sunday Magazine.

All jokes are divided into two classes; old ones you have heard, and old ones you have not heard. There is no other way to classify them. They have no nationality, no clear pedigree, and they are not subject to any laws, even those relating to property rights. They are the waifs, strays, and vagabonds of humor.

Last year I saw in the funny column of a newspaper a witticism attributed to a humorous writer who lives in California. He observed that there were only seven jokes in the world, and, with his professional drawl or stutter, or whatever his accepted stage manner may be, he scratched his head waggishly and added: "Let me see; of the seven jokes, I forget who originated the other two."

This little joke epitomizes the entire history of the small unit of humor. In the first place, this jest itself is one of the seven, and he who uttered it spoke a boomerang. Within three years I have seen it laid at the already obscured doors of Artemus Ward, Dr. Holmes and Mark Twain. I have not ascertained who first said it; but am sure archeologists will find it carved on an Assyrian stone. And just there I am making an old joke; for the comic papers have many times put familiar modern jokes into the mouth of antiquity. Noah and Adam have been represented as congratulating themselves that they escaped mothers-in-law, Julius Caesar has been made to say that he would rather be second vice president of a life insurance company than first in Rome.

The original jokes were probably handed down from the missing ape-men. If Professor Garner's disciples learn monkey talk so that they are really at home in it, they will hear all the original jokes, including those about boarding-house pie and dachshund sausages, perpetrated by the Simian Fords of the jungle.

In Greek and Latin literature, which we call ancient, but which must be modern when reckoned from the birth of essential joke-ideas, we meet jests like those that recur in the contemporaneous journals. The "Frogs" of Aristophanes opens with a satire on conventional stage jokes. The servant asks: "Shall I say some of the usual jokes, master, at which the spectators always laugh?" A little further on, the servant, who is sitting on an ass, with a burden upon his shoulder, insists that he and not the ass is bearing the burden.

An Ancient Irishman.

Within a week I have seen in print the story of the Irishman who took the little boy on his lap as they drove up hill, in order to make it easier for the horse. In a clever translation of the "Phormio" of Terence, Professor Morgan of Harvard found in contemporary jokes and up-to-date slang apt renderings of the old Roman's jokes. Terence's name indicates, anyway, that he was not a Roman, but an Irishman.

Human follies have been much the same in all races and all ages, and the humorists have aimed the same kind of arrow at the same kind of target. Any modern column of jokes has one or two thrusts at the physician. Not one of them, for all the modern development of medicine, adds much to Molière's "Le Medecin Malgre Lui," in which a clown is palmed off as a great physician and undertakes to cure an imaginary disease.

In the Greek comedy of Aristophanes, "Clouds," Socrates is lampooned as a sort of shyster lawyer who pretends to teach how to prove a false cause to be a just one. He is sought by a man who wants to dodge his creditors. What is added to this by any joke about the modern corporation lawyer?

Americans are wont to believe that Germans and Englishmen are deficient in humor and do not see a joke. Yet we go on laughing, not only at the essential comedy of English literature, but at the short jests of the most insular of Englishmen, from Chaucer to Thackeray.

No nation lacks humor. Most of the merry jests attributed to Wu Ting Fang were probably coined by enterprising newspaper men; but there is other evidence that the Chinaman is full of humor. In a serious book about Chinese life, I read not long since the joke of a Chinese boy. His master asked him if the physician across the street was a good one. The boy replied that he was, that this doctor had saved his life. How? The answer, given without a smile, was that once when the boy had been sick, he had sent for the doctor; but the doctor was out and did not come, and so had saved his life.

Usually the old joke which is called forth by a modern instance is not so innocent in its reappearance. A short time ago I read a story of a gardener who at his mistress' orders was tearing up a tennis court. One of the young people protested. He replied that he had orders that the ground was to be used henceforth for agriculture, not for "husbandry." Now, this joke came out in "Punch" years ago when croquet was at the height of its popularity. It applied to croquet, which offers excellent opportunities for courting; but it is most inappropriate to tennis, in which the players are on opposite sides of a net. Who is responsible for the retailoring? Of course the pun in "husbandry" may have caught the eye of a modern, and he may innocently have made anew a joke too old for him to have met it in its first infancy. But it is more likely that the joke was deliberately filched and made over.

Washington as a Joke-Mill

Washington correspondents of the daily papers who are most careful in their serious news are most careless about the trivial anecdotes of public men which they send home for fillers. Woe unto the public man in Washington who gets a reputation as a humorist! Readers of newspapers want a new joke from him every day, and they get it. Every February we read a new batch of apocryphal Lincoln stories, some of them not at all to his credit as a man of good sense and humor. Anybody who has spent a week at Harvard knows that most of the stories of Mr. Roosevelt's undergraduate days are circumstantially impossible. Both Speaker Cannon and John Sharp Williams are made sponsors for stories which they may have repeated, but which they are too honest to pretend to have originated.

A weekly publication is responsible for this story: A number of politicians in Washington were discussing the tendency of a certain well-known political speaker invariably to allude to his party's successes as having been "directed by the hands of Providence." "It is most extraordinary," said Representative John Sharp Williams; "but he really seems sincere in that conviction. At the same time, gentlemen, while I haven't the least objection to the senator's having an ace up his sleeve occasionally, I do wish he would not always insist that Providence put it there!"

Now, this story appears in the biography of Lord Randolph Churchill which was published last year. Lord Randolph's joke was about Mr. Gladstone, and must have been uttered twenty years ago. Lord Randolph has been dead for eleven years. It was probably not Mr. Williams who confused the authorship of the joke, but an anecdote-monger.

A western paper cleverly parodied the current newspaper anecdote: "Droll One on the Senator.—One of the most screamingly funny stories of the campaign is told of Senator Bareshanks, the well known Ind—a statesman who is running for one of the highest offices in the gift of the American people. Just as he was about to mount the rostrum to make a political speech, a discreet friend on the platform pulled his coat tail. 'Senator,' whispered his friend, 'if anybody in the audience asks you how you stand on the high protective tariff question, what will you say?'—'I'll say I stand six feet, four inches,' replied the senator, quick as thought. This was too good to keep, and presently everybody on the platform was convulsed with mirth over the senator's happy retort. It is only necessary to add that nobody in the audience asked the hypothetical question."

In his column of burlesque notes in Punch, Henry Lucy (Toby, M. P.) once put a joke into the mouth of Viscount Sherbrooke. It concerned a deaf member who was trying to hear a speech through an ear-trumpet, and was to the effect that the man was foolish "thus to sacrifice his natural advantages." This joke was gravely recorded in Sherbrooke's biography as one of his own, and it came out that he had heard it repeated so often as his that he did believe he had made it. Ten years later it was ascribed to Lord Beaconsfield in Walter Sichel's careful "Life of Disraeli." There is a saying that the best things were originated by the ancients, elaborated by the French, and credited to Disraeli.

In a recent edition of "Reminiscences" by the third Lord Holland appears a story which has been credited to more than one noted Englishman. An enthusiastic admirer of Wordsworth, Southey, and Coleridge was extolling them to Porson, the Greek scholar. "They will be read," predicted the admirer, "when Virgil, Milton, Dryden, and Pope are forgotten."—"I agree with you—and not till then," Porson replied. Now, I believe that Person did not make that answer, but himself said, "They will be read when Virgil and Homer are forgotten," and let it go at that. A scholarly friend tells me that it was Heine who afterward explained the joke by adding crudely, "and not till then."

I cannot leave this subject without paying my respects to that kind of story which turns up once a week with every great person in history, from Peter the Great to Mr. Roosevelt as hero. It is the yarn of the Great Man in Disguise.

"The Great Man in Disguise."

King Leopold at a summer resort bumps into a portly man who does not recognize him in his bathing suit. "What do you mean?" snorts the portly one. "I would have you know I am a member of the Paris City Council." "Then I offer a thousand pardons," replies the king at once (in anecdotes all retorts should be made "at once" or "quick as lightning" or "without hesitation"); "I am only the king of the Belgians."

A young man drives up to Balmoral and asks a man standing at the gate to hold his horse. The man complies. When the youth comes out again, a friend introduces the obliging gentleman as "Lord Melbourne."

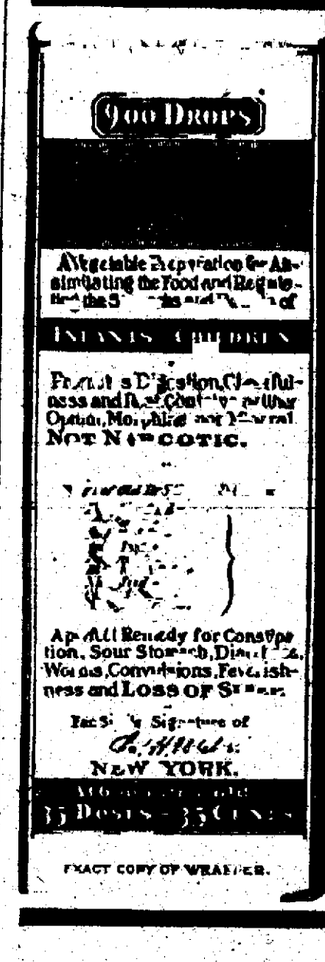

At Wiesbaden, a young American is discussing in the smoking room with other men some views of democracy. A man sitting near smiles now and then. "My argument seems not to convince you," says the youth to the smiling man. "I presume you are a monarchist. May I ask you to give me your reasons for preferring that form of government?"—"Certainly. The first reason is that I am King Oscar of Sweden and Norway."

These stories of royalty go very well, especially when the surprised person is a fresh young American; but the attempt to get the same startling revelation when the hero is an American is rather feeble.

Two young women from the country order a young man in goggles and fur to take them round Central Park in his automobile. He obeys. They pay him 50 cents for the ride. And he takes it. A policeman tells them he is "young Mr. Vanderbilt."

Mr. Roosevelt strolls through the woods behind Sagamore Hill and stops at a cider mill. Here he conveys the impression to the innocent country people that he is "a really clever man." Good! Then the writer adds: "They had no idea that they were talking with the president of the United States." Mr. Anecdote-forger, do you suppose there is any American but a blind man or an idiot that would not recognize Theodore Roosevelt?

This Stock Advances 25 to 50 per cent Midnight, Saturday, August 11, 1906

By Which Time Two More Great Oil Wells Will Be Completed—Either of Which May Discover the Main Oil Pool of the Osage Nation and Put This Stock to Par at Once.

ANOTHER BIG DIVIDEND DECEMBER 20, 1906.

Stock is Almost Certain to Be Selling at 75 Cents to $1.00 Per Share by Christmas--Company Has Two Great Refineries Built, Is Building the Third--Also Paraffine Plant at Refinery No. 2, and Lubricating Plant at Refinery No. 3--135 Miles of Main Trunk Pipe Line Nearly Ready to Pump Oil Through and Establishing the Balance 75 Main Distributing Stations in the Central West---Nearly a Million Dollars Cash and Ten Thousand Men Back of This Great Independent Enterprise and Growing Stronger Every Day.

For the past five months Uncle Sam stock has been selling at 20 cents per share. During that time the big river refinery, Uncle Sam No 2, has been built at Atchison Kas on the bank of navigation. Also nearly 100 miles of main trunk and lateral pipe lines have been secured, also numerous distributing stations have been established and Tulsa refinery, Uncle Sam No 3, on the banks of the Arkansas river, at Tulsa I T nearly half constructed, also eight of the greatest oil producers yet discovered in the west have been developed on 1,100-acre Lot 43 and other important developments, including the doubling the capacity of Cherryvale Refinery, Uncle Sam No 1. During the past five months the stock has grown in demand until during the past six weeks remittances have totaled for several different days over ($6,000.00) six thousand dollars daily.

May Strike Main Oil Pool Before Time Limit.

Now this company is not a stock selling scheme but in good faith has solicited and received heavy subscriptions from the common people from all over the United States and Canada and has pushed the work as far and as fast as finances would permit and while the stock should have been bringing at least 35 to 40 cents per share for the past three months has let the old price remain in order to make the investment attractive and to secure large sums of money necessary to push the great work rapidly. However, the old price will not remain much longer and as you will notice from the headline of this announcement at midnight Saturday, August 11, 1906, this stock will advance from 25 to 50 per cent. We do not promise that it will remain at the old price that long. Down on Eleven Hundred acre lot 43 Uncle Sam drillers were at a depth of 1,250 feet in well No. 17 Saturday afternoon, and over 1,100 feet in well No 18. Both of the locations are within one location of the big No 14 well completed by this company about one month ago, which is conceded to be one of the very largest oil producers yet discovered in the north part of the Osage nation. Either one of these wells may discover the main pool of the Osage nation. At any rate they are both going down deeper every minute in territory rich with grand possibilities. Both of these wells will be completed before Saturday night, August 11, 1906. Should the main pool be discovered or even as good wells as No 14, it may put the stock at once to a half dollar per share. Can you afford to delay your investment in this stock under these conditions? You know it will advance 25 to 50 per cent in ten days anyhow and why not play safe and forward your remittance by return mail? $1,000 check or draft sent at once will pay for 5,000 shares with a par value of $5,000 and the chances are 100 to 1 that the stock will be selling 75c to $1 per share or par as soon as the next dividend is paid which will not be long.

Stock May All Be Sold in Less Than a Week.

The company has nearly eight thousand (8,000) stockholders, the majority of whom are rapidly increasing their holdings and now that a big advance in the stock is certain to occur in a few days nine out of ten of these stockholders are almost sure to buy more stock. In addition to this the company is in touch by telegraph and by mail with nearly six thousand (6,000) other investors all of whom have at different times written the home office for information and are interested and figuring on stock. Besides these 14,000 investors this announcement will appear in all the principal papers of the United States during the next three days and will be read by millions of people.

As before stated remittances in the past have been from six thousand ($6,000) to eight thousand ($8,000) in a single day besides at this 20 cent price offered to you over ($325,000) three hundred and twenty-five thousand dollars have been subscribed, so don't it stand to reason that with all the vast strength back of this Uncle Sam Company and the thousands of investors already interested that the hours are limited at which you can secure this stock at any price?

Only a Small Per Cent of Stock Left

There is less than 8 per cent of the stock unsold. This 8 per cent however will bring the company ($160,000) one hundred and sixty thousand dollars and complete the great work to where

The Income on Oil Sales Will Total $10,000 Daily.

You must remember that this Uncle Sam Company is a strong manufacturing enterprise right now. Oil is a necessity. Larger fortunes have been made in refining oil than any other two leading industries in the world. Millions of dollars can be made honestly in the producing and refining business. If you have money to invest, and most everyone has, you better accept this opportunity to invest in about the only real live oil enterprise in the west by sending your check or draft by return mail for in ten days time you will either have to pay a whole lot more for the same stock, and may not be able to get it at all, for when the stock once gets into the hands of scattered investors it will soon go to 75 cents or $1.00 per share.

Will Have 250 Miles Main Trunk Pipe Line.

This company has secured (135) one hundred and thirty-five miles of main trunk pipe line during the past fourteen months and in due time will secure the balance of 250 miles necessary to reach the banks of navigation when the company can barge the oil to the markets of the world free from oil trust railroad rebate conspiracies or the double burden heretofore heaped on independent organizations by the world known and despised criminal trust. In other words this company will be independent and free and when you join our band, now nearly eight thousand strong with nearly a million dollars cash back of it you secure an interest in a great enterprise—one capable to protect the interest of the smallest stockholder. A chain of three great refineries and a main trunk pipe line 250 miles long with barges on the Missouri river and TWO HUNDRED main distributing stations in the Central Western states is the coming enterprise you are casting your lot with when you join Uncle Sam. It takes time to do all this great work but you will see this organization hammering along these lines until the highest pinnacle of success is attained. We are in the fight to win and you will win with us and place your investment where it will help a worthy cause and secure you great profits at the same time. $200 will buy one thousand shares while the same stock in a very few days will cost you $250 or $300. Now is certainly a pretty good time for you to get busy.

Crowding Work on Main Trunk Pipe Line.

In a very few days Uncle Sam Company will be able to pump oil towards navigation over (140) one hundred and forty miles. This will deliver the oil from eleven hundred acre lot 43, north to the Kansas state line at Caney, Kas, then by Tyro Wayside Bolton then east by Independence and on east to within six miles of the Coffeyville field and then to the Cherryvale refinery, Uncle Sam No 1. Then straight north through Cherryvale field by Thayer, Chanute, Humboldt, Neosho Falls and Leroy and then straight east to Colony on the main line of the Santa Fe and Missouri Pacific railroads. From Colony Uncle Sam will temporarily tank car the oil to the big river refinery and under the protection of the just Kansas maximum freight rate law we can deliver this oil to the Atchison refinery, Uncle Sam No 2, for 24 cents per barrel.

Saving of 27 Cents Per Barrel

Over this pipe line the company will not only save 27 cents per barrel but will insure prompt delivery of their oil. A train load of oil can be run from Colony in about half the time that it could be from Bartlesville. Furthermore a start like this on the main trunk pipe line insures its final completion.

Oil Trust Knockers Said We Would Never Build a Mile of Pipe Line or Refine a Gallon of Oil.

When this company started to work certain railroad oil trust sheets which are continually lying about the Uncle Sam Oil Company fooled a great many investors by misleading lines of "Never would refine a gallon of oil" "Never would build a mile of pipe line." With all this abuse and with every obstacle in the way of this Uncle Sam Company just the same its flag is steadily and safely advancing and the time is not far distant until it will secure and maintain the oil trade of the west, and if you want to advance with it and secure part of the great profits your time is limited in which to join this company. $100 will secure 500 shares now, while in ten days it will cost you $125 or $150 to secure the same stock. Join a winner by sending your draft or check today.

From Corner to Corner of Montgomery County.

Uncle Sam Company will soon have over forty-five miles of main trunk pipe lines and two main trunk pipe line pumping stations in Montgomery county. Besides this when fully completed will have over seventy five miles of lateral pipe lines in Montgomery county alone and will also run a lateral pipe line into Chautauqua county and then with a few miles of lateral lines either way as the main pipe line comes north can reach 80 per cent of the Kansas oil fields.

Will Start Pipe Gang No. 2

During the past week Uncle Sam pipe line men have been crowding work with all possible haste and coming through the bottoms on the Caney river south of Caney in the Cherokee nation. This is a difficult stretch of country to work through men at times working knee deep in mud water and oil but are making headway every hour and another pipe line gang will be started at Cherryvale in a few days and the entire 135 miles of main trunk line soon completed.

Cheap Fuel for Kansans.

The completion of this pipe line and laterals means a whole lot to the fuel users of Kansas and that includes about every household in the state. Uncle Sam Company has a fuel oil domestic burner and as soon as pipe line is screwed together and enough right oil pumped to Cherryvale Uncle Sam will have ready for shipment over (600) six hundred carloads of fuel oil and will keep up a supply thereafter. If you are a Kansan and want to burn your own fuel this coming winter get in line with Uncle Sam. $400 will buy 2,000 shares now while in ten days the same stock will cost you $500 or $600.

Will Have 2,700 Barrels Daily Capacity by November

It will be but a matter of a few months until at Tulsa Cherryvale and Atchison this company will have a combined capacity of two thousand seven hundred barrels per day with a paraffine plant at Tulsa turning out all the by-products.

Manager in Philadelphia Now Securing Paraffine Plant Machinery.

The big paraffine plant at Atchison will be built before you realize it. Uncle Sam's superintendent of construction arrived in Philadelphia Sunday July 29 to look after part of the machinery. Thus it goes. Work is being crowded all along the line.

Great Strength of This Company.

When you buy Uncle Sam stock you secure valuable property, safeguarded by giant strength on every side. Nearly a million dollars cash and eight thousand stockholders back of the company. The company has thousands of acres of oil rights, controls and operates four complete drilling rigs has nineteen main distributing stations in that many important trade centers in Kansas, Missouri and Oklahoma, with tank cars, tank wagons etc, necessary to deliver Uncle Sam Oil to the growing trade.

Main Headquarters at Kansas City, Kas., U. S. A.

Compelled to move into larger quarters to handle the rapidly growing trade the home office of the company was moved a few weeks ago to Wyandotte building Kansas City Kas. From the office you can secure permits to visit any of the different properties. You are requested to come and investigate, but don't lose too much time in doing so if you wish to secure advantage of the present low prices.

Money Invested Is Safe, and Can't Help but Increase in Value.

If you have money to invest and fail to grasp the opportunity the future will prove that you made a big mistake. The facts are that the Uncle Sam Oil Company of Kansas, will bear the closest investigation. It is hammering along well laid plans of success has already accomplished ten times more than was expected on the start. The management is the same now as at the beginning and are working with might and main to make the stock worth par and that is just about what you can expect in less than a year if you join our band, and we solicit you to do so.

May Raise Over $100,000 During Next Ten Days.

You may think that you have all summer to secure part of this stock, or that Uncle Sam stock is not in demand. However a few minutes at the home office in the Wyandotte building, Kansas City, Kas, would soon convince you otherwise. Inquiries have been coming in by the hundreds of late and now that a day is set that all must buy or there may be a great advance, the orders for stock will come thick and fast and judging from the past all of the balance of the stock is almost sure to be sold, while the remittances will run at least to $80,000 during the next ten days, and give the company sufficient funds to put all the refineries and the pipe line to where big profits will be made. A $2,000 check or draft now will secure 10,000 with a par value of $10,000, while in ten days' time this same stock will cost you $2,500 or $3,000. Better consider well before you let this opportunity pass out of your reach.

Will Continue to Pay Dividends.

The company has made one dividend with refinery No 1 at Cherryvale and doesn't it stand to reason with the capacity of that plant doubled and one just twice as large at Atchison Uncle Sam refinery No 2 and with Uncle Sam refinery No 3 at Tulsa which will be ready to refine oil in about six weeks and with the help of a pipe line that much larger dividends can be paid?

Another Dividend December 20, 1906.

Dividend No 2 will be declared December 20, 1906. Dividends will be paid semi-annually and increased as fast as the earning capacity of the refineries will permit and there is no reason why in two or three years time the company cannot be built up to a capacity of 18,000 barrels daily. The quicker you get your name on this dividend payroll the better for you. $2,800 check or draft will now purchase 15,000 shares with a par value of $15,000. In ten days from now the same stock will cost you $3,500 to $4,200. Better secure part of this stock and derive the benefit of this advance and be in a position to secure other advances that are certain to come in the end.

Your Remittance Must Be Mailed by Midnight, Saturday, August 11, 1906.

No remittances will be accepted at prices advertised below unless in the mails by midnight Saturday, August 11 1906. As far as possible mail yours early as our clerks will be covered up with mail the last few days.

HOBBS SELLS HIS LEASE FOR $10,000

M. B. BURKE TAKES OVER MONTE CRISTO AND WILL GO AFTER ORE CARBONATE HILL ACTIVITY.

CRIPPLE CREEK, Aug. 1.—John H Hobbs, president of the Monte Cristo Leasing company, operating on the claim of the same name on Beacon hill, has sold his lease to M B. Burke of the Henry Adney. The consideration involved is said to be in the neighborhood of $10,000 or $12,000.

The Monte Cristo shaft is down 350 feet and considerable work has been done. The property heretofore has never produced anything but low grade ore, but recently some values were found that indicate a much richer body and Burke will go after it.

Henry Dahl, operating on the Jerry Johnson, is getting ore in two places, at 450 and 500 feet, which is giving returns of three to four ounces in gold to the ton. The vein is not defined and the ore is found in spots. The lease however, is looking better than for some time.

Stingley and associates, operating on the Buckhorn on Carbonate hill, are breaking ore two feet wide at a depth of 150 feet which is giving values of $40 in screenings. This hill is being exploited by prospectors for the first time in several years.

SACRAMENTO INVOLVED IN A $10,000 LAW SUIT

CRIPPLE CREEK, Aug. 1—Charles M. Becker, W. W. Travell and A. E. McDonald have brought suit against the Western Investment company, the Sacramento Gold Mining and Milling company and R. A. Miller for $10,000 and to quiet title to a [illegible] on the Sacramento claim. They ask an injunction to restrain the defendants from operating the property.

PROPER CLAIM IS SCENE OF STRIKE

LESSEES OPEN FOUR-FOOT VEIN OF MINERAL WHICH CARRIES SEAM RUNNING $3,000 TO THE TON.

CRIPPLE CREEK, Aug. 1.—A strike of large dimensions has been made by Lampe & Long operating on the Proper claim of the Stratton estate on Globe hill. The find was made at a depth of 27 feet, where a big body of ore was encountered at a depth about five feet south of the shaft.

The vein is over four feet wide and, all the way across, gives returns of between two and three ounces gold to the ton. Near the center of the vein is a five-inch streak which carries values as high as $3,000 in gold to the ton.

The ore body is being developed and a trial shipment of high-grade will probably be made tomorrow.

The Standard Mining and Development company is now sending out five cars a week from the South Burns claim of the Acacia company on Bull hill.

The ore averages three ounces in gold and is broken from a seven-foot vein at a depth of 800 feet. It is thought that within two weeks' time shipments from the property will be doubled.

DISCOVER RICHES IN A NEW FIELD

OPENING OF A BIG SILVER-LEAD BODY IN FELICIA GRACE, EXTENDS LEADVILLE PRODUCING AREA.

LEADVILLE, Aug 1—An important strike has been made in the Felicia Grace shaft, in the Ten Mile district. The shaft is down 180 feet and a drift was started to the northeast and after being driven some distance from the shaft a body of ore was encountered that runs eighty ounces silver and from 40 to 60 per cent lead.

With the opening of the ore came water, and a heavy flow of it, so much so that it will be necessary to sink the shaft another lift of 100 feet to get well beneath the ore, and to drain the ground.

The water bubbles right up through the ore and is seemingly a natural water course. Assays have been taken from the ore body that run 200 ounces silver and 70 per cent lead per ton.

Leadville men are at the head of the enterprise, with Max Brockstadt as manager. The strike is a good one for the Ten Mile district, as it opens up a large area of undeveloped territory.

NEW LOW RECORD IN THE WHEAT PIT

GIGANTIC YIELD IN KANSAS CHIEF CAUSE FOR DECLINE. LOSSES PARTIALLY REGAINED. CLOSE STEADY.

CHICAGO, Aug. 1.—The wheat market manifested considerable firmness early in the day because of a lively demand by shorts, who were driven to cover by reports of revolutionary outbreaks in Russia. The market was also influenced at the start by a decrease in local receipts. Toward the end of the first hour, however, sentiment became bearish and prices quickly declined. The change in sentiment was due chiefly to a report from Kansas City, which claimed that the latest estimate on the wheat crop of Kansas placed the yield at 90,000,000 bushels, an amount greatly in excess of any previous crop. A minor factor in the decline was a forecast of increased local receipts tomorrow. On the decline prices reached a new low record mark for the season. Late in the session the market rallied and almost all of the loss was regained. The advance was due to reports from New York which claimed that liberal sales for export had been made. The late demand came largely from shorts. The market closed steady. September opened ¼@⅜ to ¼@⅜ higher at 74½ to 74⅝, sold at 74⅝ and then declined to 73¾@⅞. The close was at 73⅞@74.

The corn market was firm early in the day as a result of buying brought out by continued absence of rain in sections of the corn belt, where moisture is greatly needed. Later, however, the market weakened on selling induced by reports of larger acceptances from the country and closed weak. September opened ⅛ to ⅜@¾ higher at 49⅞@50⅜@½, sold off to 48⅝ and closed at 49¼. Local receipts were 121 cars.

Liquidation by local holders caused weakness in the oats market. September opened ⅛@¼ to ¼ higher at 31⅛ to 31¼@⅜, sold at 31⅜ and then declined to 30⅝. The close was at 30¾.

Provisions were weak because of a decline of 5@10 in the price of live hogs. At the close September pork was off 22½ at $16.52½; lard was down 12½ at $8.60; ribs were 7½ lower at $8.90.

GOLD CHARM ORE IS SHOWING SYLVANITE

CRIPPLE CREEK, Aug. 1.—Hill and company, operating on the Venture claim through the Moffat tunnel at a depth of 175 feet, have opened 18 inches of ore which gives returns of $20 to $80 in gold to the ton. Murray and Rogers, operating on the Gold Charm, are working through a 100-foot tunnel and getting out ore from a three-foot body that runs $35 to $40. It shows considerable sylvanite. These two claims are owned by J. J. Miller and are on Signal hill extension and are believed to be the only two mines on this hill that are producing.

DEPORTED MINER HAS RICH ORE IN NEVADA

VICTOR, Colo., Aug. 1.—Thomas McNeill, deported from here and dumped on the Kansas plains two years ago, has struck it rich in the new gold fields of Nevada. In a letter to his wife he states he has opened up a five-foot vein in the Pike's Peak Four claim which carries from $300 to $800 gold to the ton, and that there is plenty of ore in sight.

BUILD BIG ORE HOUSE ON THE SACRAMENTO

CRIPPLE CREEK, Aug. 1.—The Western Investment company will immediately begin the erection of a 100-ton ore house at its Sacramento lease on Bull hill. The Sacramento is producing regularly four and five cars a week from the mammoth ore body recently encountered in the mine at a depth of 300 feet. The property is reached by the Gold Belt railroad's Victor-Vista Grande route.

PRICES SENT TO A HIGHER LEVEL

RISE IN WALL STREET AGAIN RESUMED WITH AGGRESSIVE FORCE—U. S. STEEL CHIEF FEATURE.

NEW YORK, Aug. 1.—The rise in stocks, which has shown a somewhat halting tendency this week, was resumed with aggressive force today. Prices were swept to a higher level throughout by well-distributed buying orders, and the market broadened materially from the recent extreme congestion in a few of the market leaders. Dealings rose to well over a million shares and to the largest total of daily sales on the present upward movement. The favorite speculative stocks, however, continued well in the forefront of the movement and especially the Pacifics, including in that term the whole of the trancontinental group.

It was pointed out as remarkable that while U. S. Steel preferred sold today above the June level, the common stock, now on a dividend basis, failed to reach the June high price today. The steel dividend was the leading subject of interest in the day's market. There can be no doubt that the declaration came as a genuine surprise to the majority of operators in the market, in spite of the speculative tips in circulation previously, alleging the certainty of a dividend. The assignment of the ½ per cent dividends to two quarterly periods preceding was looked upon as indicating in some respects a reconsideration of policy formerly determined upon, and these new departures were attributed to the influence of the directors previously absent, especially J. P. Morgan, to whose financial leadership and opinions the mass of habitual stock market operators attach more importance than any other single guiding force. The decision of the case was looked upon as a broad determination upon more liberal distribution of earnings to stockholders as contrasted with the building up of indefinite surplus reserves, which has become a marked feature of financial policy of some of the great corporations. Dissatisfaction of stockholders with this policy has been expressed publicly in more than one recent instance and resort has been had to the courts in some cases. It has been urged in the same connection that enlarged dividend distributions must be allowed in order to make a market for securities at the present price level and with interest rates disproportionately high.

The renewed unsettlement in foreign markets on account of the new outbreak of violence in Russia was of no apparent effect here. There was enormous profit-taking during the first hour, attracted by the sudden opening advances, but the selling was confidently absorbed throughout and the closing was firm and near the best.

Bonds were irregular. Total sales, par value, $1,695,000. United States bonds were unchanged on call.

Annual vs. Deferred Dividends from Advertising

All this talk about the cumulative effect of advertising is pretty much the same argument the insurance man put up when he sold us our deferred dividend policy.

IT'S an excuse to put off the day of final settlement in both cases.

We'll take our dividends annually, Mr. Insurance Man.

And, Mr. Advertiser, if this year's advertising didn't earn dividends you're on the five, ten or twenty year accumulative plan—may have to lapse before dividend time.

You may win out after your advertising "expert" gets through experimenting.

But we would like an opportunity to tell you in an interview how to get Annual Dividends from your Advertising. We would like to explain to you what we do to make advertising sell goods from the start, without the advertiser having to wait 5, 10 or 20 years for a dividend.

By doing this for our present clients—both large and small—we have built up the largest business of its kind in America.

One of our representatives is in your city every few days looking after the interests of some of our present clients. That is why we are advertising in this newspaper—to you NOW.

A letter addressed to us, signifying that you will grant us an interview in your office, will not obligate you in any way.

We are solving commercial problems every day, and this is an offer to discuss such problems (small and large) as between business men. If the discussion does not develop the reasonable certainty that YOUR volume of business and percentage of net profit can be increased by Lord & Thomas advertising, there it will end.

Will you write us today?

We are issuing a series of small books (cloth bound) covering advertising in all its phases, which [illegible]
